New Gas Cut Is Protested By Georgians

By KEELER McCARTNEY.

Georgians holding "A" ration cards wondered how far they could go on three gallons of gasoline a week yesterday as Mayor Hartsfield and the Atlanta Motor Club protested vigorously to Washington that Georgia be excluded from the eastern seaboard area in which the basic "A" ration will be cut Sunday.

The mayor said he had wired Senators George and Russell and Congressman Rameck emphatically protesting against Georgia being "set apart" from the rest of the country in the rationing of gas.

"We are willing to suffer any reduction, no matter how drastic, but we object to being set apart and having our gas ration reduced even further when most of the United States are not rationed at all," he said.

Creates Disunity. The representatives in Washington replied they agreed with him and would do all they could to alleviate the situation, the mayor added.

"Georgia is served by pipe lines and there is sufficient gasoline—even enough to haul some of it back to Alabama in trucks," Hartsfield continued.

"We protest being continually allowed less than the rest of the country. This creates disunity and it is going back on what Washington said they would do—that all would be treated alike."

"We just plain don't like it," the mayor exclaimed. "But I want to understand Georgians will gladly co-operate in gas rationing if it applies to all equally."

Charles B. Bishop, club manager, announced that he had air-mailed requests to United States Senators George and Russell, that they use their influence in having Georgia excluded from the order as well as West Virginia. The OPA reduction order included the entire seaboard except West Virginia.

War Necessity. Officials of larger oil companies indicated they would accept the order as "another necessity of war."

"If the government believes this reduction is necessary for the successful prosecution of the war, there is nothing we can do except comply with the order," a spokesman said.

Numerous protests were raised when gasoline rationing first began on the eastern seaboard. Dealers, and the general public, felt then that if gas must be rationed, the rationing should cover the entire country and not just the 17 eastern states.

"However, the government went right ahead with the program it had announced. We were rationed here while in the central and western sections of the country

CAPTURED JAP BARGE—American soldiers in Papuan, New Guinea, traipse down the lowered stern of a Jap landing launch. Its former cargo of Japs got ashore, but after the Americans found it out, the passengers failed to show up for the return trip after what had been intended as a round trip raiding party.

Mass Raids on Italy Next Step, Nash Says

WASHINGTON, Nov. 18.—(AP)—Mass bombing of Italian production centers probably will be one of the next major developments of the war, Walter Nash, New Zealand minister, said today after a meeting of the Pacific War Council at the White House.

Nash described the weekly conference between President Roosevelt and representatives of seven other nations as "the most interesting we have ever had," while Lord Halifax, the British ambassador, called it "a very encouraging meeting."

The New Zealander fairly bubbled with heartening comment about Allied successes in the Solomons and North Africa, and said the conference devoted some time to the "Ninth Front"—mass air raids—and "a fair amount of time" to all other fronts leading up to the ninth.

"I don't want to talk of North Africa," Nash told reporters, "but that is a very good show." He then went on to say if the Allies capture Bizerte and Tunis in Tunisia, that will be "one of the greatest accomplishments of the war" and new strategy then will have to be changed by the United Nations.

This strategy, he said, might very well provide for extending to Italy the mass bombing raids which have had such an "amazing

All Deferred Rural Workers Ordered 'Frozen' on Farms

WASHINGTON, Nov. 18.—(AP)—As one more step in a broad program to "insure victory, final and complete," President Roosevelt today ordered the young men who become 18 years old in the last six months of this year to register for military service.

Almost simultaneously, Selective Service headquarters took action to safeguard the supply of farm labor. Men deferred because engaged in essential farm work, may not quit the farm for the factory without the approval of their local draft boards. If they do, they become liable to immediate induction.

Selective Service also disclosed that local boards had been instructed to reclassify all registrants heretofore deferred because of conviction of crimes. No more deferments are to be made on this ground unless the registrants "are completely disqualified morally and are not eligible for a waiver under the new army standards," the boards were told.

Criminal Records. Waivers have been authorized by the Army in meritorious cases for men who have criminal records, even including treason, murder, rape, kidnapping and other "heinous crimes," if their conduct has been fitting for at least six months after their release from confinement. The boards were told to ask waivers for these men and others with less serious records, if they are otherwise available for military service.

President Roosevelt's action was necessitated by the recently enacted legislation lowering the minimum draft age to include 18 and 19-year-olds. Those who became 18 up to the end of last June had already registered.

Mr. Roosevelt provided three registration dates. Those who became 18 in July and August are to register during the week of December 11. Those whose birthdays were in September and October, are to register during the week of December 18. And those becoming 18 in November and December are to register between December 26 and 31, inclusive. After January 1, men becoming 18 will register on their birthdays.

18th Group Call. A little earlier, selective service headquarters issued regulations under which the 18 and 19 year olds will be called up for induction in the order of their birth dates, with the oldest called first. This is a departure from the plan followed for older men, for whom the order of call was fixed by lottery drawings.

The regulations also stated more explicitly the rules covering deferments to be granted to high school students. By applying to their draft boards in writing, such youths may obtain deferments to the end of the school year.

This provision, it was said, applies only to institutions "giving

Women Now Shaping Curves In Big Atlanta Optical Industry

Work Couldn't Be Better, Manufacturer Says.

If you think shaping curves all ways has been a woman's job, you're thinking about the wrong kind of curves.

The art of shaping the curves in spectacles—the kind you look through, not at—is an entirely new accomplishment for women. It's another field to them as a result of the war.

Take the case of the Southeastern Optical Company here, one of this region's largest manufacturing and distributing optical firms. The mechanical departments were staffed practically 100 per cent by men and A. T. Vannerson Jr., manager, admits frankly he was skeptical whether women could do the exacting work required.

Women Fill Gaps.

But that was before the draft started taking employees who had spent years learning the trade. So Vannerson—and others in the industry—had to call in women to fill the gaps. Now girls are performing every type of work in his shops.

In the regular shop, where the usual glasses are turned out, there are as many women as men.

In the military shop, the only employees who don't wear dresses and smocks are the foremen. Operating on a sub-contract for the Army, this shop makes glasses for use by bespectacled soldiers when they wear gas masks.

48 Employed.

In all, 48 women are now employed in the mechanical end of the Atlanta company's business. They operate complicated machines, although few had any mechanical experience before they were hired. Some had been employed by garment manufacturers or in candy factories. One was a cake baker. But most came out of offices or from behind soda fountains.

"You've got to give them a pat on the back," says Vannerson. "They're stepping right in and doing good specialized jobs. Some go right to work in the shops the morning they are hired. But those who are to have key positions receive training for two weeks or so."

"In the matter of neatness and detail their work couldn't be bettered by men."

"My attitude has changed completely. I've been educated," Vannerson agrees women are "probably a little more appreciative of detail," and points out that in the optical industry "detail means everything."

He also emphasizes that while machines are used—mostly to spin the grinding stones—the human element is important in turning out a good lens, a product in which an error of one-tenth of a millimeter could make the world look different.

Vannerson doesn't feel the women are "going to be turned out in the street after the war because there never has been an overabundance of capable optical workers"—the kind women are making.

Tripoli Called Last Refuge of Fugitive Axis

LONDON, Nov. 18.—(AP)—Allied and liberated French troops made contact tonight with the Germans in a drive toward Bizerte, where American Flying Fortresses already had attacked with their first sweep in force on the North African front, and Allied parachutists captured a vital airdrome deep in Tunisia.

Gap Closing. British and American advance forces were within 70 miles of the German-occupied Bizerte naval base.

The Allies also had crossed the Tunisian frontier at several points. The French under command of General Henri Honore Giraud, were moving with them, and garrisons inside Tunisia were fighting the Germans and striving for a union with the east-bound Allies.

The Gap between the British First Army in Tunisia and the Eighth Army sweeping Rommel before them in Libya narrowed to 800 miles as the forces of General Sir Bernard L. Montgomery drove to within 70 miles of Bengasi.

A third powerful Allied force was reported striking north from Lake Chad toward Tripoli over 1,000 miles of Libyan desert, slamming shut a triangular trap on the Axis troops still at large in North Africa.

"Heavy fighting" still lies ahead of the Allies, a British military commentator said and reports that Hitler was massing 1,000 planes and moving troops from Russia to the Mediterranean basin bore this out.

The Fortresses exploded gasoline and munition dumps in Bizerte, where the Germans boasted they held the initiative. They also destroyed grounded planes.

An Allied communiqué said that advance elements of the British First Army, British and United States parachute troops and French Allied forces have entered Tunisia at several points.

"Contacts have been made with enemy scouting parties," the communiqué added.

Last Refuge.

These developments were reported tonight from the thick of battle as shaping up in Tunisia for control of the air, land and sea lanes of Tripoli, last possible refuge of the disorganized Axis desert armies.

The Fortress raid, in which Axis supplies were blown up in the key naval-air base, was the first carried out in force by the big American bombers in Africa, although Brigadier General Jimmy Doolittle already had had a taste of combat in a Fortress en route to the new battlefield.

The parachute exploit far inside Tunisia was described in an Allied headquarters communiqué on Radio Morocco as one of the most important air-borne operations ever accomplished.

"The chutists were dropped to prepare the way for Allied forces" already driving into Tunisia.

British accounts said the Fortress bombers swooped low over their objective at Bizerte and rained it with bombs. On the way home they shot down a Messerschmitt 109 fighter plane.

French Aid Allies.

These accounts said that French troops in Tunisia are making a fighting withdrawal toward the west to join the British First Army advancing inside Tunisia from Algeria. The French have made two contacts with the Axis forces.

Poll Tax Bill Is Hit As Unconstitutional

WASHINGTON, Nov. 18.—(AP)—Constitutionality of a bill which would eliminate payment of a poll tax as a voting prerequisite in eight southern states was challenged in the senate tonight as opponents of the measure filibustered a fifth day of debate to a close.

Senator Doxey, Democrat, Mississippi, one of the principal opponents of the bill, raised a point of order that the senate Judiciary Committee which reported it was without authority to do so because the measure was unconstitutional. When Doxey completed a three-hour speech, Senator Chandler, Democrat, Kentucky, presiding, ruled the Mississippiian had posed a constitutional question which should be submitted to the senate.

Group Tables Bill To Extend F. D. R.'s Power

WASHINGTON, Nov. 18.—(AP)—President Roosevelt's request for broad, emergency powers to suspend tariff and immigration regulations to aid the war effort was tabled today by the house ways and means committee amid indications that a compromise would be worked out by a subcommittee.

A decision to put a subcommittee to work redrafting the measure was reached after several members expressed willingness to support the legislation in modified form.

Chairman Doughton, Democrat, North Carolina, said "it seems to be the unanimous opinion that some legislation is desirable and necessary," but the pending bill "is broader than necessary."

The action followed a day-long executive session of the committee during which several top-ranking government officials endorsed the Chief Executive's request for authority to remove obstacles to the entry and egress of persons, materials and information when the Government Chief Is Named 'Heir' of Marshal.

LONDON, Nov. 18.—(AP)—Pierre Laval, who has thrown in his chips for a German victory, was made Fascist dictator of Vichy France and designated successor to Marshal Philippe Petain tonight. Observers predicted a new terror reign and a desperate Laval effort to swing France militarily into the Axis fold.

The 86-year-old Marshal Petain named Laval his heir presumptive to replace Admiral Jean Darlan who went over to the Allied standard in French North Africa, and also gave Laval full powers to write his own laws and decrees in a nation completely occupied by Axis armies.

Significantly the vesting of full powers in the wily Laval came after the cabinet had heard a report from Rear Admiral Rene Platon, a secretary of state in the foreign ministry, on the latter's trip to Tunisia.

Admiral Platon presumably outlined the prospects of rallying French Tunisians to the Axis camp at a time when American and British troops are fighting their way into the protectorate from occupied French Algeria to the west. German and Italian troops already hold the Bizerte-Tunis area apparently in co-op-

'Pirates' Give Idea For Magician's Show

By BETTY MATHIS.

Blackstone, the magician, confessed here yesterday that even one who pulls rabbits out of a hat with no trouble at all can't conceive ideas for a super-special magic show out of thin air.

That, said Harry Blackstone, is the reason he called The Constitution to thank them for what he thinks will be a big hit in the show he takes on a tour of Army camps beginning next week.

It all began when the famous magician opened his copy of yesterday's Constitution and saw a picture of the new members of the Pirate Club. In particular, he noticed the picture of pretty, blonde Roslyn Ison in a snappy-looking satin costume.

"That's exactly what I have been looking for," he decided, and in another moment was on the long-distance telephone to his costume manufacturer in Chicago instructing them to pull out the Chinese number they were working on and substitute pirate costumes to be made according to his description of those pictured in The Constitution.

"That pirate number is going to be a big hit with the soldiers," he predicted yesterday. "It's just the sort of thing the soldiers want. The costumes are not too brief, but they do show a pretty dimpled knee. I wish Miss Ison would go along with my vaudeville troupe. I know she would be a hit."

Banks Playing Big War Part, Wiggins Says

ABA Official Attends Meeting of Secretaries' Association Here

Banks have practically underwritten the cost of the war by volunteering to help sell war bonds and then take over the costs which the public cannot assume, A. L. M. Wiggins, of Hartsville, S. C., vice president of the American Bankers' Association, said here last night.

Wiggins, president of the Hartsville bank, and also president of the South Carolina Press Association, was in Atlanta to attend a two-day session of the Secretaries of Southern States Bankers' Association at the Biltmore hotel. The meeting will end tonight.

ABA Committee.
A committee from ABA called upon Secretary Morgenthau in Washington last week and volunteered to co-operate closely with federal victory fund committees in the sale of war savings bonds and stamps. Wiggins continued, and the bankers also volunteered to take over "whatever part of the financing the public cannot carry."

"We realize it is desirable to finance the war as much as possible through the American citizens," he said. "And we are setting up committees in each of the states that will be co-ordinated by a central committee in Washington to speed up war bond sales. The banks will be ready to assume whatever part of the financial responsibility of the war that citizens cannot carry."

Secretary Morgenthau revealed in Washington last week that the government will seek to raise 55 billion dollars within the next 12 months, Wiggins said, adding:

Making Plans.
"We are making our plans accordingly. The banks so far have sold 85 per cent of the war bonds and stamps. Our program will be to keep in close contact with the Treasury Department and launch a nationwide program of education and inspiration."

During its first-day sessions, the secretaries' association voted to suspend state and regional conventions for the duration of the war and hold only "war conferences" as they "are needed to further the war effort."

Today, state banking officials from 14 southern states will tackle the bank man power problem, the question of whether banking holidays will be suspended for the duration and adjourn after the election of officers.

On Friday banks in six states, comprising the Sixth Federal Reserve District, will meet to draft plans for replacing bank workers who have been called to the colors. Representatives of banks in Alabama, Georgia, Louisiana, Mississippi and Tennessee will attend.

Head of French Tunisian Army Joins Allies

Germans Claim Barre Tried To 'Entrap' Rene Platon.

NEW YORK, Nov. 18.—(AP)—General Barre, commander of French forces in Tunisia, apparently has gone over to the Allied side, the German radio disclosed tonight in telling of the general's efforts "to lure Admiral Platon into a trap."

Rear Admiral Rene Platon recently returned to Vichy from Tunisia to report on African developments, and the Berlin radio said the German transoceanic agency had learned reliably in Vichy that:

"British planes pursued Admiral Platon's plane both to and from Tunisia. Moreover, it was learned that General Barre had tried to lure Admiral Platon into a trap by inviting him to inspect troops at a certain point on the Tunisian-Algerian frontier."

"Admiral Platon however declined the invitation and remained at Tunis throughout his stay in Tunisia as a guest of President General Admiral Jean Esteva. It is regarded as practically certain that Admiral Platon would now be a prisoner if he had accepted General Barre's invitation."

New Gas Cut Is Protested By Georgians

the motorists had all the gasoline they wanted.

Much Resentment.
"I don't feel that a protest over reducing the basic ration from four to three gallons a week would do any more good now than protesting the first ration program."

Filling station operators and car owners who have tried to get along on "A" ration books, however, were quick to resent the further reduction.

"I don't see how we can stay in business under much more of this cutting," one filling station man said.

"A few of us have tried to stay in business and help keep autos going. Many of our station men have already closed up and gone into high priced war jobs. I guess the rest of us will have to do that, too."

Grand Rush.
Meanwhile, John Q. Public, who has been budgeting his driving in order to get along on four gallons a week, was well on his way to a grand rush on the local rationing boards to ask for supplemental gas coupons.

"I could get along on four gallons a week by walking every place I could and taking the car only when I absolutely had to," an indignant owner said. "Now that I will get only three gallons a week, I might as well not have a car at all. I'll have to foot it anyway."

In his protests to Washington, Bishop wrote:

"We were shocked to learn of the OPA announcement that 'A' gasoline coupon values will be reduced to three gallons, effective Sunday."

"We urge that you contact proper officials immediately to have Georgia, as well as West Virginia, excluded from this order."

Black Market.
Bishop pointed out that both the southeastern pipe line from Port St. Joe, Fla., and the Plantation Line from Baton Rouge, La., run through Georgia. However, oil company officials insist that the lines could not possibly support all the states through which they pass.

"It is our feeling that discontinuance of the 'S' coupons in the November 22 order, will eliminate a large part of the so-called black market that has brought a serious leakage under the present plan," Bishop stated.

"Let's perfect and enforce the present plan before making further restrictions that will penalize those patriotic motorists who have reduced their mileage to come within the rationing plan."

Lieutenant Commander George Griffin, instructor of the Naval ROTC at Georgia Tech, spoke yesterday at "Our Navy" at the regular luncheon meeting of the Atlanta Masonic club at Davison's. action is necessary to the prosecution of the war.

Attorney General Biddle, in a statement which was later made public, told the committee:

"I can assure you that in asking for this legislation, the President had no intention of exercising the power . . . so as to remove customs or immigration barriers for any purpose not directly connected with our war effort."

"If there are any who are not satisfied with this assurance, the obvious answer to them is that the congress can at any time, irrespective of whether or not the President has declared the war to be over, terminate this act by concurrent resolution."

Biddle cited several examples to show the legislation is needed to eliminate unnecessary delays in prosecuting the war.

He said the $8 head tax on each alien entering the country would become "ridiculous" when applied to a large body of prisoners of war coming into or passing through the United States.

The Attorney General reported that important missions of foreign government officials had been delayed on several occasions because of minor omissions in their entrance papers.

As another example, he cited a requirement that all aliens entering the country be inspected by officers of the immigration service, and said that under present statutes, it applied to many distinguished citizens of Allied nations brought to this country by the air transport command.

Biddle declared that many of them came on highly confidential missions, and that the delay resulting from the required inspection made it difficult to preserve secrecy.

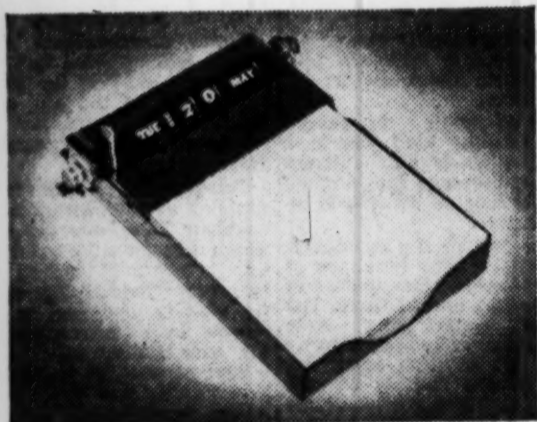

He said that he had been told, also, that there was recently a very long delay at the border when some Canadian troops entered Alaska as a part of our united war effort, and added that "presumably the Canadians were held up by nothing more than the great mass of documents which our statutes required them to fill out."

"Certainly," Biddle commented, "the exigencies of war should not wait upon such formalities."

Rommel, With But 15 Of His 500 Tanks, Now Near Bengasi

CAIRO, Nov. 18.—(AP)—The fleeing Axis army in Libya, with only 15 of its 500 first-line tanks left, reeled back today to within 70 miles of Bengasi, with the British Eighth Army in pursuit on a broad front toward the El Agheila defile for what may well be the knockout punch.

Grocers Hear Rationing Plans For Coffee

Wholesalers Learn Details on Distribution From OPA Official.

Details of plans for coffee rationing were explained last night by Fenton Albright, regional OPA coffee and sugar officer, at a meeting of the Wholesale Grocers Association of Atlanta, in the Robert Fulton hotel.

"The purpose of coffee rationing," Albright said, "is to insure a fair distribution of the entire coffee supply of the United States. Therefore, at midnight Saturday, the coffee regulations become effective. At the present time, Mrs. Consumer does not have to register, but at a later date she will be called upon to declare the amount on hand as of November 28, 1942. All retail sales will be frozen for one week beginning November 22 in order that the roaster and wholesaler may fill the retailers' shelves."

The so-called institutional users of coffee, such as restaurants, hotels, boarding houses, hospitals and drug stores, will be required to register with their local ration boards just as they did for sugar, Albright pointed out. Dates for the signing up are Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday of next week.

All such institutions will be required to make an inventory as of midnight Saturday, of the amount of coffee on hand. Their coffee ration will be on an allotment basis, and these users will be allowed the same amount of coffee for the first period—November 22 through January 31—as they used during the period from September 1 through October 31. No institution may purchase coffee after this week unless registered.

Wholesalers and retailers will not be required to register but are required to take a midnight, November 21, inventory which must be submitted to the local ration board by December 31. Coffee sellers will work on the same plan used for sugar rationing.

An OPA bulletin explaining the workings of the coffee system are available from OPA state offices and local rationing boards.

One must now have a government permit to erect a building in Uruguay.

General Sir Harold Alexander, Middle East commander, said he expected Marshal Rommel's army to make a temporary stand there, but added:

"I don't think his present army can stand for long, unless reinforced. The enemy is groggy but not knocked out. The battle will not be ours until the enemy is lying senseless."

The battle of El Agheila, on the base of the Libyan hump and the eastern end of the Gulf of Sirte, 400 miles from Tripoli, is expected in about a week. The Eighth Army advanced 80 miles yesterday to within 230 miles of El Agheila and about 800 miles from the western boundary of Tunisia, where the British First Army and flying American columns are pressing eastward, closing the jaws of a great vise.

12 Planes Destroyed.
For the first time in days Axis planes were found in the desert near Bengasi, and 12 were destroyed without Allied loss. Six were huge transports shot from the air; the others were destroyed on the ground. Allied bombers attacked Bengasi at low level, firing barges in the harbor.

Portions of the Eighth Army were pursuing Rommel's remnants in the vicinity of Barca. Another column was driving along a desert shortcut south of the green coastal mountains from captured El Mechill toward Musus and El Agheila beyond.

Alexander said the Axis was unable to use the shortcut because not much of Rommel's transport remains "desert-worthy." Rommel has lost 75,000 of his first line troops and the great bulk of his equipment. British casualties total only 13,600.

The British commander said Rommel may have received a trickle of tank reinforcements.

Difficult to Determine.
"He may have got some at Bengasi and he had repair shops back along the route, so it is very difficult to answer exactly how many tanks he has presently," he said.

El Agheila is flanked by the sea and boggy salt marshes and is a strong defense position comparable to El Alamein where the offensive started. It is the high-water mark of previous British advance and is the strongest position short of Tripoli.

The enemy, Alexander said, "will undoubtedly try a strong rear-guard action there while trying to withdraw and reform the remainder of his forces at Tripoli."

He praised the new American-made General Sherman Tank as "grand and as good as any on the battlefield—our troops love it."

Asked by the War Department to add 44 more weeks to the tour, Blackstone refused, stating emphatically, "The war will be over then."

The War Department was inclined to let the matter rest there with a fervent, "We hope you are right." But regardless of the accuracy of his own prediction, Blackstone said that he expects to continue entertaining the boys in uniform for the duration.

After the war, the magician said he intends to come back to Atlanta to give a special performance for members of the Pirate Club in appreciation for furnishing him with the inspiration for his new number. And he hinted a party afterwards might be in the offing.

The Blackstone troupe included 16 persons in the magic show and seven other vaudeville performers.

INSPIRATION, WHAT?—American men in uniform throughout North America soon will be seeing a reasonable facsimile of Atlanta's pretty Roslyn Ison, whose photograph in a group of Pirate Club members which appeared in yesterday's Constitution, was the inspiration for a new number in the show that Harry Blackstone, famous magician, is taking on a tour of Army camps. Blackstone declared that Miss Ison, a Girls' High school student, is just the "dimple-kneed" type of girl soldiers like to look at. So Roslyn obligingly came to the photographic department and posed for this "shot."

his 8-year-old son, Harry II, a student at Georgia Military Academy, begins a 22-week tour of Army camps which will take him to Alaska "and anywhere else Uncle Sam wants me to go."

Still using the royal "we" in referring to himself, Petain said: "We, marshal of France and chief of state by virtue of the constitutional law of July 10, 1940, decree that the state of government (Laval), outside of constitutional laws, has the power on his simple signature alone to make laws and issue decrees."

Darlan's Successor.
Petain cancelled a previous constitutional article that had appointed Admiral Darlan as his successor. The marshal's new decree said that "in case of permanent incapacity (Petain's) the cabinet shall within a month appoint a chief of state by a majority vote."

At the same time, the decree continued, "it shall define and fix the respective powers and attributions of the chief of state and head of government whose functions shall be separate."

Immediate repercussions from these developments were seen to night in a Vichy report that Vice Admiral G. A. J. P. Auphan, secretary of state for the navy, and Robert Gibrat, secretary of state for communications, had resigned their cabinet posts.

Admiral Jean Marie Abrial, former governor-general of Algeria, replaced Admiral Auphan, and Jean Bichelonne combined Gibrat's post with his present one of secretary of state for industrial production—a production, incidentally, geared to Germany's war needs.

Protest Seen.
These men doubtless resigned in protest against Laval's new powers. They probably knew they were going to be fired anyway, since Admiral Auphan is known to be a supporter of Laval. In any event it was considered significant that Admiral Abrial was given Auphan's job.

He undoubtedly is slated to use what prestige he retains in Algeria for the benefit of the Axis. There also remains the question of the Toulon fleet. Admiral Darlan's appeals has asked it to go over to the Allied side, but it still rides at anchor within gunshot of surrounding Axis occupation armies.

The pro-Axis policy of Laval now takes a new and more powerful turn, but just what form it will assume remained unclear to eration with pro-Axis Vichy elements stationed in the Tunisian French protectorate.

An official Vichy announcement by old Marshal Petain said he was giving full powers to Laval "to enable him to speedily deal at any hour and in all places with the difficulties through which France is passing," and he declared he appreciated "the patriotism and foresight of Laval in all circumstances."

Still using the royal "we" in referring to himself, Petain said: "We, marshal of France and chief of state by virtue of the constitutional law of July 10, 1940, decree that the state of government (Laval), outside of constitutional laws, has the power on his simple signature alone to make laws and issue decrees."

night. There have been reliable reports that Laval was negotiating a peace with the Axis to replace the armistice, perhaps as a forerunner to trying to place France formally at war with the Allies.

These reported terms would give Germany Alsace and Lorraine, provinces they already have taken over, and would place the Vichy fleet alongside the Axis in an attempt to regain the French empire.

Empire In Segments.
Segments of that empire now are occupied both by the Axis and the Allies. Japan is in French Indo-China, a fact that Vichy always ignores when speaking of "aggression," the Fighting French control other parts, the Allies are in Morocco and Algeria, and both German-Italian and Allied forces in Tunisia.

Unless Laval eventually can cleverly propagandize the helpless French people it is thought unlikely that his Axis collaboration would take the extreme form of going formally to war against the Allies. The constitution also provides that Marshal Petain as chief of state himself does not have power to declare war without "the previous assent of the legislative assemblies."

Those assemblies are yet to be created under the constitution which replaced the third republic on July 10, 1940. Moreover, the constitution under which Petain assumed his powers never has been ratified.

Notorious Regime.
Laval's regime has been notorious already for many outright pro-Axis moves. Before the Germans took over the remainder of France, the former butcher boy had turned over thousands of Jews to the Germans for deportation to the east. He also forced thousands of French workers to go to Germany.

An increasing anti-Semitic program already was in evidence to night with a Vichy report that 154 more persons, mostly Jews, had been deprived of their citizenship. Laval, who narrowly escaped death from a Frenchman's bullets more than a year ago, has openly applauded the German repulse of the commando attack on Dieppe, has protested U. S. bombings of German-controlled factories in France, has turned over a number of French ships to the Germans and continues to watch his suffering country being systematically looted of foodstuffs.

He does this in the hope of an Axis victory, a victory he had predicted was certain to come in 1941. Laval's scheming was responsible in part for the torpedoing of the Paul Reynaud war government that fateful June night in 1940 when Marshal Petain took over and sued for an armistice.

War Guilt Trials.
Some French leaders had gone to North Africa in the hope of fighting on from there. He and Marshal Petain brought them back and tried to saddle them with "war guilt" in the unsuccessful Riom trials. In those trials testimony was introduced which accused Petain himself of military negligence in the years he headed France's military affairs.

Evidence that the new German-Vichy regime expects Allied air attacks on southern France was shown tonight in Vichy reports

Nutrition Rally Is Addressed By Dr. Wilkins

Lack of Balanced Diet Said Injuring National Efficiency.

The lack of a properly balanced diet is interfering seriously with national efficiency, Dr. Walter Wilkins, of the United States Public Health Service, told a "food for victory" rally last night at the Erlanger theater.

The rally climaxed an observance in Atlanta of nutrition week that featured the distribution of pamphlets and posters outlining proper foods. The observance was sponsored by the Atlanta and Fulton county nutrition council and Atlanta bakers.

Other speakers brought out that 400,000 men were turned down out of the first million called under the selective service program because of malnutrition.

Talks by H. Carl Wolf, president of the Atlanta Chamber of Commerce, and Miss Lurline Collier, chairman of the Georgia nutrition committee, concluded the meeting.

Body Is Identified As John E. Smith

The badly decomposed body of a white man found late Tuesday in a shallow gully off South Boulevard has been identified as John Elsworth Smith, 24, of 418 Cherokee avenue, S. E. Mrs. Paul Donehoo, Fulton county coroner, said last night.

An inquest into the death will be held at 9:30 o'clock tomorrow morning at the Avtry & Lowndes Funeral Home, Mrs. Donehoo said.

The body was discovered about 350 feet off South Boulevard and near the federal prison. Funeral services and burial for Smith were held yesterday at the Pleasant Hill cemetery, near Jasper.

Mrs. Middlebrooks Dies; Final Rites Tomorrow

Mrs. Emma K. Middlebrooks, 75, died yesterday at the residence, 139 Columbia drive, Decatur.

She is survived by a daughter, Mrs. J. W. Comer; two sisters, Mrs. J. D. Bass and Mrs. Fannie Roberts, both of Pittsburg, Texas, and four grandchildren.

Funeral services will be held at 10 o'clock tomorrow morning at Trinity Chapel with the Rev. J. W. McKibben officiating. Burial will be in Powder Springs.

Fighting Ensign Neill Scott Well Known in City, Georgia

Ensign Neill Anderson Scott, whose dying words, "Keep those guns firing, mates!" kept the blazing destroyer Smith in action in the Santa Cruz islands, was well known in Atlanta and Georgia, it was revealed yesterday.

An Atlanta friend, Peter Cranford, last night told the following story about Ensign Scott:

"One time, when Neill was about five years old, he was sitting in a car with his parent. My father-in-law walked up to the car and told Dr. Scott one of the tires was flat.

"You know," remarked Neill, "I thought that tire was going flat when I stuck that nail in it."

The heroic officer was an honor graduate of Valdosta High school in 1936, and later attended Davidson College and received a degree from the University of North Carolina.

Following his graduation from college, Scott was employed with the Equitable Life Insurance Company in Hartford, Conn. He entered the Navy recently.

For many years his father was pastor of First Presbyterian church at Valdosta. Dr. Scott is now pastor of the First Presbyterian church in Goldsboro.

Canada Draft Director Quits; Hits 'Friction'

Elliott M. Little Cites Obstructionism in Duties of Office.

OTTAWA, Nov. 18.—(AP)—Elliott M. Little, director of the national selective service, has submitted his resignation in a letter stating bluntly he had encountered "friction and obstructionism" which had resulted in "virtual paralysis" of the selective service organization.

The resignation was accepted. In his letter, addressed to Labor Minister Humphrey Mitchell, who has ministerial jurisdiction over selective service, Little said:

1. In the fourth year of war there was "no clear directive from the government on man power policy" and "quite inadequate organization to achieve a total and balanced man power effort."

2. He found himself carrying grave responsibilities "without commensurate authority."

3. He had submitted a comprehensive proposal to put selective service in a position to achieve its objectives but Mitchell had failed to "give the vitally essential function of wartime selective service the support it must have."

4. It had been agreed offices of the unemployment insurance commission would become selective service offices but seven months had passed and "selective service is still in the ridiculous position of lacking undisputed control over its only possible field machinery."

5. Selective service had been unaccountably hindered and blocked in efforts to make sure of the pledged co-operation and support of labor and of industrial management.

Rumors of differences between Mitchell and Little were first heard about a month ago. A principal difficulty understood to exist in the administration of selective service was confusion over the relationship of selective service and the unemployment insurance commission, regional offices of which serve as field stations for the selective service organization.

Eight destroyers, in two groups, were reported "maneuvering off the north coast apparently in support of the enemy ground forces," a communique stated.

(Absence of any mention that loaded transports were on the scene left open the possibility that the destroyers might be prepared to evacuate the Japs at Buna, now being forced toward the sea.)

Heavy Allied bombers were trying to get the destroyers within their bomb sights.

The Allied ground forces, under personal command of General Douglas MacArthur who is in the field in New Guinea, were reported "closing in on their objective."

In the air, MacArthur's bombers fanned out for widespread operations. The bombers bombed enemy installations and positions at Buna in support of the ground troops.

Medium bombers and twin-engine fighters attacked the airfield, nearby buildings and installations at Lae, on the north New Guinea coast above Buna.

At Gasmata, on the island of New Britain northwest of New Guinea, medium units bombed the airfield runway. At Rabaul, also on New Britain, heavy bombers raided enemy airfields last night.

Northeast of Australia in Portuguese Timor, medium bombers started fires among buildings occupied by the Japanese at Baucau and attack planes conducted a strafing sweep over Maubisse, a frequent Allied target recently.

Instructions Are Given for Burning Refuse

Hartsfield Approves Measure Permitting Fires in Yard.

Atlantans today may legally burn yard refuse on their own private premises following approval yesterday of a council ordinance by Mayor Hartsfield.

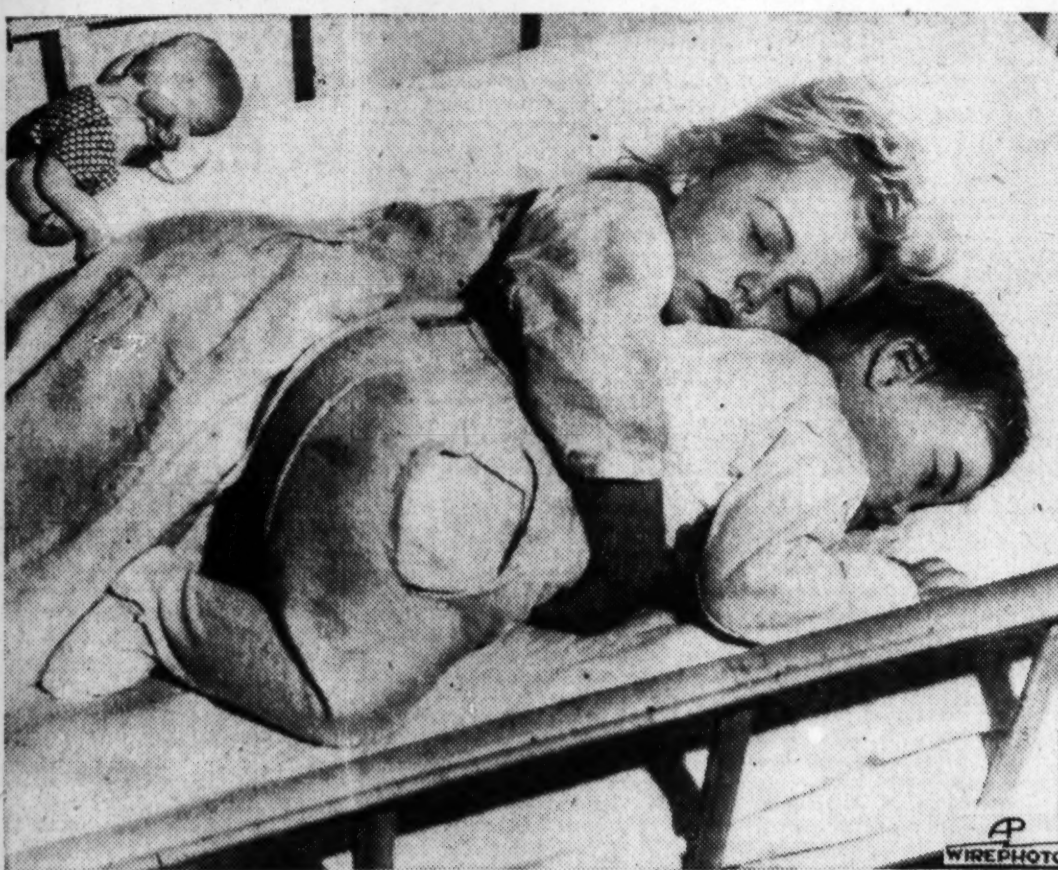

Construction Chief Clarke Donaldson said the new ordinance must eliminate the burning of any trash on streets or sidewalks and warned that the burning is injurious to paving, which is now under rationing provisions. He said unburned paving cannot be replaced even if citizens wished to destroy it illegally. There are municipal ordinances barring fires in streets or on sidewalks.

H. J. Cates, superintendent of the city sanitary department, urged that a hose be ready for the burning of yard rubbish, that it be burned in small quantities, that a fire never be lighted in a high wind or in any breeze which would blow the flame towards any structure which is not fire resistant and that no rubbish be burned if it can be avoided.

10,000-Bale Crop Is Seen in Polk

Special to THE CONSTITUTION. CEDARTOWN, Ga., Nov. 18.—Polk county's 1942 cotton crop ginned prior to November 1 was officially reported this week at 7,341 bales. This total compares with 4,723 bales for the crop of 1941.

Under the impetus of higher prices and favorable weather, harvesting of Polk's cotton crop is now virtually completed with a 10,000-bale crop believed assured.

IN THE ARMS OF MORPHEUS—Kay Rose, 4, and Clark Edward MacLam, 13 months, slept in a juvenile home in Los Angeles yesterday oblivious to the disappearance of their six-week-old sister. A woman who abandoned the tot is sought in connection with the disappearance of the baby and the bludgeoning of the children's mother.

Woman in Slacks Abandons Baby of Bludgeoned Mother

LOS ANGELES, Nov. 18.—(AP)—A six-week-old baby, whose mother is near death in a San Diego hospital after being bludgeoned and thrown over a cliff, was abandoned today in a bus station by a woman in green slacks.

Police cars closed in on the district to search for the woman. The child had been missing since Mrs. Inez MacLam, 22, was found bleeding and unconscious at the foot of an 80-foot cliff north of San Diego yesterday.

Claude W. Green, a bus driver, told police the slacks-clad woman left the baby on a bench, saying: "I'm going to the store. I'll be back in a moment."

He became suspicious, however, when she broke into a run as she reached the street.

Beside the baby was a suitcase containing a child's brown coat. In one pocket was a locket, with a slip of paper inside bearing the name of Kay Rose MacLam. The latter, 4 years old, and her 13-month-old brother, Clark Edward, were left by a woman at the Union station yesterday afternoon.

Efforts to find the third child, Judith Rae, had been unsuccessful. Earlier Detective Captain R. C. Giese said Mrs. Margaret Wallace, of Hollywood, was being sought for questioning. He identified her as the woman who left Los Angeles Sunday with Mrs. MacLam and the three children for declined comment, there appeared to be little doubt they would abandon efforts to obtain passage of the bill in this session if they failed to limit debate.

Poll Tax Bill Is Attacked by Senator Doney

Doney, defeated in last summer's primary, told his colleagues he might never get to address all of them again but he wanted them to remember Mississippi and other southern states would "uphold the doctrine of Anglo-Saxon supremacy until our lofty mountains crumble into dust."

Joins Dixie Fight.

Earlier a Maine Republican joined in the Democratic tug-of-war in the senate over the anti-poll tax bill and a close-knit group of southerners counted on his vote to help them block the measure.

Senator White, Republican, Maine, refrained from discussing his views on the poll tax itself, but told his colleagues he believed the legislation had been improperly placed before the senate.

Senator George, Democrat, Georgia, as well as Senator White, supported Doney's contention that the bill had not been properly reported by the Judiciary Committee. White declared the committee disregarded all parliamentary rules by its action.

When one senator gives his proxy to another, the Maine Republican argued, he in effect is exercising the power to appoint another representative for his state.

Before the debate started, Senator Connally, Democrat, Texas, said he and other opponents of the bill wanted to make their views on the poll tax question clear, to rebut charges they were carrying on a pettily filibuster. The southerners planned to have one of their number deliver a major speech in the senate soon in order to place their arguments before the country in detail.

"Some fundamental issues are involved in this fight," Connally declared.

King, Worker Eat Same Food In England, Says First Lady

By RUTH COWAN.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 18.—(AP)—Mrs. Franklin D. Roosevelt today paraphrased "from cabbages to kings" with "from Brussels sprouts to Buckingham palace" in the first recounting of her saga of her modern age flying trip to Britain.

In a lengthy press conference she told of her impressions of Britain's royal family, wartime life in England, her trips to American military camps, possible suggestions for Uncle Sam at war, and laughingly said in regard to the food she had to eat:

"If anybody gives me a brussels sprout in the next month, I'll throw it across the table."

Food Adequate.

Quite seriously, Mrs. Roosevelt, who left for London October 21 and whose return was announced by the White House yesterday, said that from her observation the average Briton is not getting as much food as before the war but it is better balanced. "Dull but adequate," she described it.

It's the same in Buckingham palace as in a worker's cottage, she related—and she looked in on both on a trip in which she said she went where she wished.

Mrs. Roosevelt said her trip had convinced her that if American citizens could only realize that the length of the war will depend largely on what they are willing to do "we might put a great deal more into our war effort."

No Servants.

Asked for examples of what Americans could do, she said giving up non-essentials for one thing. Also if women were willing to do a great deal more work, there could be released more man power for war industry and the armed services. She said she doubted if anyone in England now, no matter how rich, had servants.

The English weather continues cold, more markedly so, since the British are conserving on heat. Mrs. Roosevelt related—and she still has a cold she picked up on her trip. Nearly all American soldiers get colds when they first get to Britain, she said.

Mrs. Roosevelt said the British people were enormously grateful for the help given them by Americans—the warm clothing sent over, the ambulances, the canteens. In return the British were doing what they could to make American boys feel at home. Many mutual friendships were developing.

Gets Souvenirs.

Mrs. Roosevelt brought back a few silver souvenirs, she said. Also she was given a shillelagh, when in London, and a cane for the President. She brought these back as she did a tin box of short bread cookies given her for the President by the Royal Scottish Women's Institute. The President sampled one last night while she told him about her trip—and told him that the cookies had been made out of the Scottish women's rations.

Hero of '31 Bus Tragedy Takes Oath in Navy

DENVER, Nov. 18.—(AP)—Bryan Untiedt, boy hero of Colorado's 1931 school bus tragedy who was feted as a White House guest by President Herbert Hoover, was sworn into the United States Navy's Construction Corps today as a carpenter's mate, first class.

Now 24 and a lanky six-footer, Bryan said he hoped to be assigned to base construction overseas. Untiedt was acclaimed for his resourcefulness in saving several schoolmates from death after the bus stalled in deep snow. Five children and the driver perished.

Nazi Tank Attacks On Factory District Again Beaten Off

MOSCOW, Thursday, Nov. 19.—(AP)—German tank and infantry attacks on the factory district of Stalingrad, which the Nazis are attempting to capture for winter headquarters, were beaten off again yesterday and counter-attacking Russians seized several enemy strong points, the Russians announced early today.

Women's Unit Of Democrats Elects Officers

Mrs. Gaffney Renamed President at Waycross Session.

WAYCROSS, Ga., Nov. 18.—(AP) Mrs. Herbert Fay Gaffney, of Columbus, was re-elected president of the women's division of the Georgia Democratic party organization today.

Other officers chosen at the concluding session of the two-day convention included Mrs. B. M. Boykin, of Atlanta, first vice president; Mrs. J. W. Oglesby, of Quitman, second vice president; Mrs. Chester Fyals, of McRae, third vice president; Mrs. Edith Dimmock, of Waycross, recording secretary; Mrs. D. M. Minchew, of Brunswick, treasurer; Mrs. J. A. Rollison, of Waycross, publicity director, and Mrs. D. I. Ingram, of Valdosta, chaplain.

The women adopted resolutions urging elimination of "selfish and partisan politics for the duration," and pledged faith in the President as commander-in-chief of the armed forces and offering full cooperation with the governor of Georgia in the state's participation in the war effort.

The organization also voted unanimously to continue jury service for women and fencing in of livestock off highways as part of its legislative program for next year.

The state president was also authorized to appoint a state chairman for sale of war bonds.

The annual dinner last night was presided over by Mrs. J. M. Solomon, president of the Ware county host club, and Mrs. Gaffney.

G.S.W.C. Student Speaks at Session.

VALDOSTA, Ga., Nov. 18.—Miss Sara Catherine Martin, of Waycross, senior at the Georgia State Woman's College in Valdosta, spoke last night at the banquet meeting of the ninth annual convention of the women's division of the Democratic party organization of Georgia in session at Waycross. Miss Martin, who is president of the Student Government Association at G. S. W. C., told of the work of the international students assembly. A leader in this organization, Miss Martin served on the steering committee for the world conference of the International Students Assembly in Washington last summer. She spoke as representative of the colleges and universities of America on an International broadcast from Washington sponsored by delegates of the convention.

Saboteur Aide Convicted of Treason in N.Y.

42-Year-Old Mechanic Will Be Sentenced Wednesday.

NEW YORK, Nov. 18.—(AP)—Anthony Cramer, 42-year-old mechanic accused of aiding two of the eight Nazi saboteurs landed by submarine on the Atlantic coast last June, was convicted of treason by a 12-man jury in federal court tonight.

The jury deliberated slightly more than two hours on the case of Cramer who was charged with having met and extended "aid and comfort" to Werner Thiel and Edward J. Kerling after they were landed by a German submarine on the Florida coast.

Cramer, who will be sentenced next Wednesday by Judge Henry W. Goddard, faces a penalty ranging from five years' prison sentence and $10,000 fine to death.

His treason trial was the third to end in conviction in 148 years. First after such a long period was that of Max Stephan, of Detroit, last August 6. Six relatives and friends of executed Saboteur Herbert Haupt were convicted in the second treason trial last Saturday in Chicago.

Shortly before both sides rest of their cases today, the government withdrew seven of ten alleged overt acts charged in the indictment against Cramer. Besides being accused of meeting the two saboteurs in New York, Cramer was charged with giving false information to Federal Bureau of Investigation agents in order to conceal Thiel's mission and identity.

Atlanta Methodism To Have Big Part in Conference Reports

By DR. THOMAS M. ELLIOTT.

Atlanta Methodism will figure prominently today in the reports to be submitted to the North Georgia annual conference, according to statement made by Dr. E. G. Mackay, of the Atlanta East district, and Dr. Wallace Rogers, of the Atlanta West area.

New Allocation Plan Seen for State Fertilizer

Dr. William H. Martin, of N. J., Talks to National Group Here.

A new state allocation plan will be advanced soon to enable farmers to obtain the proper fertilizers for their 1943 food production programs, Dr. William H. Martin, consultant on fertilizers and insecticides to the War Production Board, said here yesterday.

Dr. Martin, also dean of the College of Agriculture and director of the New Jersey experiment station, was principal speaker yesterday at the closing session of the southern convention of the National Fertilizer Association. The meeting was held in the Biltmore hotel.

"Last July we met here with representatives of the fertilizer industry, land-grant colleges and others interested in agriculture to work out an equitable distribution of available supplies of fertilizer," Dr. Martin said.

"Following this meeting, WPB issued an order listing the proved grades for various states as well as certain restrictions covering the use of chemical nitrogen. Some slight changes had to be made, however, and that is expected to result in a substitute plan."

R. B. Douglass, of Norfolk, Va., chairman of a special industry committee on fertilizer distribution, outlined a proposed plan under which certain areas would be given special consideration to produce badly needed crops.

Others taking part in a panel discussion included M. K. Derrick, of Washington, D. C.; L. D. Hand, of Pelham; W. S. Rupp, of Baltimore, Md.; and John E. Sanford, of Atlanta.

Sigma Chi To Fete National President

Members of the Sigma Chi college fraternity will honor their national president and local pledges at a dinner in the Atlanta Lawyers' clubrooms, Citizens and Southern National Bank building, at 6:30 o'clock tonight.

The national president and grand consul of the fraternity is Dr. William B. Ricks, of Nashville, Tenn. Pledges of chapters at Georgia Tech and Emory University will take part, and a program of music is scheduled. All Sigma Chis are invited.

IT'S HARD TO WALK THERE NOW

EVERYTHING used to be right downtown, handy, in walking distance.

Came the War and the War Agencies taking over downtown buildings—and Atlanta had to move out toward the edges of town.

Today it is almost impossible to walk all the places you must go during a day in town.

This puts a heavy load on the Yellow Cabs. And at the same time they have grown scarcer.

So "deadhead" miles must be eliminated—they are definitely unprofitable.

We must avoid all possible empty trips. When a cab goes out to pick up a passenger, it must somehow carry another passenger—or group of them—in the same direction.

And the more passengers it carries on every trip, the more sure you may be that you will find a Taxi ready when you really need it.

The thing is simple. If you will just plan your trips ahead a little, and give our Dispatching Switchboard warning of your trip, at least 15 minutes earlier—we can handle the situation.

Otherwise we may come to the point of having to refuse calls. And in Atlanta that would work real hardship on many people.

Please try to give us the 15 minutes or more warning we need and be ready when the taxi gets there.

Yellow Cabs

Increases over the previous year in all department work will be reported. Pastors' salaries have been advanced some $5,000, and all paid. World service benevolences will show an increase of $4,000 for the two districts, and all paid. Accessions to the church membership reach the high record with an increase of some 250 bona fide conversions above the number reported for last year.

Nearly $200,000 has been expended in debt-paying, physical improvements on properties, and launching new building programs. An Episcopal residence valued at $10,500 has been acquired during the year, and a contribution of $4,000 has been made to the work of the Golden Cross.

Co-operation. Credit for the year's unusual showing is to be given to the co-operation of laymen and pastors. District lay leaders for the East district are Jere Wells, J. C. Wadlaw and Judge Clarence Bell. For the west district lay leaders are W. L. Richard, James F. Cox and J. J. Daniell. In the field of women's work the district secretaries are Mrs. Reaves Gaston and Mrs. J. T. Hamby, of the East and West districts, respectively. Herman Fulton is president of the District Stewards' Association.

Glowing reports from the two Atlanta districts are indicative of similar reports coming from each of the other eight districts in the conference. The uniform expression from every section is that progress has been made in every phase of church enterprise, and that the year 1942 is a banner year with the North Georgia Methodists.

750 Accessions. In the Atlanta East section, where 750 bona fide accessions to the churches are reported on profession of faith, a physical property program involving some $90,000 is reported. Fairburn, Dunwoody, Roswell, St. Luke and McKendree, Grace and Grant Park churches have liquidated all indebtedness, while Druid Hills completed payment on church debt and continued improvements on education building. Capitol View dedicated a $15,000 education building, while three new churches were completed on the Alpharetta and Holbrook circuit charges, and Sylvan Hills deeded $300 on a building fund.

In the Atlanta West district, where 575 church accessions are reported on profession of faith, a physical property program involving some $90,000 is reported. Fairburn, Dunwoody, Roswell, St. Luke and McKendree, Grace and Grant Park churches have liquidated all indebtedness, while Druid Hills completed payment on church debt and continued improvements on education building. Capitol View dedicated a $15,000 education building, while three new churches were completed on the Alpharetta and Holbrook circuit charges, and Sylvan Hills deeded $300 on a building fund.

Other districts will report as follows: Athens-Elberton—450 accessions by faith, and $12,000 on buildings. Augusta—90 accessions, and $15,000 on buildings. Dalton—450 accessions, two new churches built and two new parsonages, with total involved $20,000. Decatur-Oxford—380 accessions, and $18,000 on buildings and improvements. Gainesville—320 accessions, and $2,500 in buildings. Griffin—520 accessions, and $30,000 on buildings and improvements. LaGrange—200 accessions, with $15,000 spent on properties and obligations. Rome—Accessions in the number of 330 are reported.

Mrs. Reaves Gaston, elected secretary of women's work in the Atlanta East district nine months ago, will report that the district has 44 auxiliaries, with a total membership of 392. The total of $15,833 has been raised, of which $10,850 was sent to the conference treasurer. T. J. Hamby, secretary of women's work in the Atlanta West district, will report 44 auxiliaries with a total membership of 3,160 members. Two new auxiliaries are reported, and a gain of 185 new members. Total of all money raised by women of that district during the year is $24,849, of which $12,770 was sent to conference treasurer.

Boards To Meet. Bishop Arthur J. Moore, president of the annual conference, is to call the conference to order at 4 o'clock this afternoon, at Wesley Memorial church, where all sessions will be held. Prior to that hour some 30 boards and examining committees will hold meetings today.

At 5 o'clock a memorial session will be held in honor of the several conference members who have died during the year, as arranged by the Rev. C. V. Weathers, chairman of the commission on memorials. Brief biographical sketches of the following deceased ministers will be read: The Rev. J. R. Allen, of Rome; the Rev. E. B. Aycock, of Statham; the Rev. J. W. Coffman, of Cumming; the Rev. J. H. Farr, of Milledgeville; the Rev. J. H. House, of Lake Park; the Rev. J. D. Posey, of Eatonton; the Rev. H. M. Strozio, of Marietta; the Rev. H. C. Emory, of Washington, Ga.; and the Rev. Samuel Leon Laird Jr., the Rev. A. Green, the Rev. J. M. Moore, and the Rev. Dumas Broughton Stillmunt.

Visiting Pastors. Pastors of Atlanta Methodist churches have arranged for visiting pastors to preach for them on conference Sunday. The schedule arranged so far is as follows, with the second named minister preaching at the evening hour: Ben Hill, C. S. Forrest; Bethany, W. R. Sisson, J. V. Jones; Brookhaven, J. D. Maxwell; Calvary, W. M. Barnett; Cascade Avenue, M. M. Maxwell; College Park, W. G. Henry Jr.; Collins Memorial, W. Segars, W. R. Sisson; Decatur First, E. D. Rudisill; Druid Hills, P. J. METHODIST MINISTERS TO RETIRE—Four well-known North Georgia Conference Methodist ministers who are to retire during conference session this week, under operation of Methodism's new age limit enactment.

They will be: The Rev. J. R. Allen, of Rome; the Rev. E. B. Aycock, of Statham; the Rev. J. W. Coffman, of Cumming; the Rev. J. H. Farr, of Milledgeville; the Rev. J. H. House, of Lake Park; the Rev. J. D. Posey, of Eatonton; the Rev. H. M. Strozio, of Marietta. The Rev. H. C. Emory, of Washington, Ga., and the Rev. Samuel Leon Laird Jr., the Rev. A. Green, the Rev. J. M. Moore, and the Rev. Dumas Broughton Stillmunt.

Five young ministers are applying for admission on trial at this conference. They are the Rev. H. O. Green, the Rev. Samuel Leon Laird Jr., the Rev. A. Green, the Rev. J. M. Moore, and the Rev. Dumas Broughton Stillmunt.

Prior to the formal opening of the annual conference session, at 2 o'clock, the 70 members of the Widows and Orphans' Aid Association will hold a special session in the Whitefield auditorium at Wesley Memorial church, to hear the report of a committee named a year ago as to what disposition shall be made of the association.

The Rev. W. S. Robison, Dr. Elam F. Dempsey, and this reporter were named as a committee to study the matter this year, and make report at this time. The committee will recommend that the association be disbanded, and that all assets be distributed among the 70 members in good standing.

The evening session today will be devoted to hearing a discourse by Bishop Edwin Holt Hughes, of Washington, senior bishop of American Methodism. On Friday morning Bishop Edwin F. Lee, of New York, lately returned from Singapore, will be heard during the mission board anniversary program.

Sittings of the conference body will be three times daily through the balance of the week, with adjournment some time next Sunday afternoon, with the public reading of the appointments by Bishop Moore.

Visiting Pastors. Pastors of Atlanta Methodist churches have arranged for visiting pastors to preach for them on conference Sunday. The schedule arranged so far is as follows, with the second named minister preaching at the evening hour: Ben Hill, C. S. Forrest; Bethany, W. R. Sisson, J. V. Jones; Brookhaven, J. D. Four North Georgia Methodist Ministers Will Retire Today

By DR. THOMAS M. ELLIOTT.

Four well-known North Georgia Conference Methodist ministers will today retire from the active work of that denomination. They are Dr. R. L. Russell, district superintendent of the Griffin district; Dr. W. T. Hunnicutt, of the Atlanta Cascade Avenue church; the Rev. W. S. Robison, of the Atlanta Epworth church, and the Rev. W. T. Irvine, of the Monticello church. They have served Methodism as ministers for a total of 204 years.

Their retirement is to be effected under the operation of Methodism's new age limit law, which becomes effective at this session of the annual conference, and which stipulates that active ministers shall be retired upon reaching the age of 72 years. The four ministers to be retired this week are all well known in the state, having served prominent appointments, and each one having been district superintendent one or more times. Through their labors they have made a definite impression on the religious life of the commonwealth, while some of the quartet have served in connexional offices of the church throughout the nation.

Dr. R. L. Russell joined the St. Louis conference in 1891. During his 51 years' active service his appointments have been as follows: Benton-Macedonia, Thayer, West Plains, Cape Girardeau, Charleston, St. Louis Kirkwood, St. Louis First church, St. Louis Mt. Auburn, Poplar Bluff First church, St. Louis Wagoner Place church, Atlanta Druid Hills, Gainesville First church. For a time he was financial secretary of Marvin College, and for nine years was home mission board secretary of the general board. Four times he has been a district superintendent for a total of 11 years, serving the Poplar Bluff and Charleston districts in the Missouri conference, and the Atlanta and Griffin districts in this conference.

Dr. W. T. Hunnicutt joined the North Georgia Conference in 1890. During his 52 years' active service he has served the following churches: Morganston, Buford, Ellijay, Trinity of Rome, Dahlonega, Summerville-Trion, Monroe, Forsyth, Atlanta First church, Cedartown, Atlanta St. Winder, Cedartown, Atlanta St.

Along about early milking time this afternoon, at 4 o'clock, Bishop Arthur J. Moore will issue the call to "play ball," and the North Georgia Methodist Conference members will take their places and try to score against the devil, 100 to 0. It will be a fast game, with the last of the ninth inning coming next Sunday afternoon. Wesley Memorial church again will be the conference meeting place, with preconference board meetings taking place this morning. You are invited to attend all the conference sessions you can, and you will be welcomed. In connection with Methodist operations we have nothing to keep hidden or to be ashamed of, except that we haven't done better. Come, and be with us; but be sure to bring your ration card with you.

On This Circuit 35 Years. This morning when I started to put the bridge on my faithful steed, Pegasus, he snorted as though he would like a moratorium on this circuit riding business. I reminded him of the late Clark Howell's wish that we might preside at the 1887 session, and Truth is, Pegasus is slightly spayed in one leg and more or less winded trying to keep up with the speedy doings of these days. Pegasus is grateful he has no flat tires, and that he doesn't need a ration card for oats, fodder and peavine hay. Very truly Pegasus and I both can say "Darling, I am growing old."

Meeting Here 29th Time. This will be the 29th annual session of this conference to be held in Atlanta since the division of the old Georgia conference into two bodies. Bishop George F. Pierce presided at the 1887 session, and Atticus G. Haygood was secretary. This is the seventeenth consecutive session to be held here. The body has come to be so large difficulty is found in securing hotel accommodations. Some persons think attendance this year may be so large, due to the new plan of conference entertainment, whereby each minister and delegate provides for his own expenses. An effort will be made this week to change the time of meeting to the month of June and use some college plant as meeting place. Also an effort will be launched to have the day of meeting changed, so that adjournment may be reached before Saturday. These two proposals have been widely discussed during recent weeks, arousing considerable interest. Sentiment favoring the proposed changes seems to be very largely in the majority. The sentiment of laymen is not so well known. The lay vote will determine the matter.

Seven conference ministers have passed in death since the session of a year ago. Their names, together with the number of years in the ministry, are as follows: The Rev. J. R. Allen, of Rome, 38 years; the Rev. E. B. Aycock, of Statham, 17 years; the Rev. J. W. Coffman, of Cumming, 18 years; the Rev. J. H. Farr, of Milledgeville, 42 years; the Rev. J. H. House, of Lake Park, 42 years; the Rev. J. D. Posey, of Eatonton, 34 years; the Rev. H. M. Strozio, of Marietta, 56 years. The Rev. G. T. Sorrells, of College Park, a former member of this conference, died last March, and the Rev. J. J. Blanks, a well-known supply pastor in Atlanta, died a month ago.

Tobacco Users on the Spot. Stormy weather is forecast during this conference, for tobacco users and worshippers of Lady Nicotine. "Fust and fust," as Uncle Remus would say, about 125 Methodist preachers are liable to arrest for violation of a city law that forbids smoking on church premises. That ancient law has never been abrogated.

The tensest moment of the conference session a year ago was when Bishop Moore was addressing young ministers relative to their vows as to abstaining from the use of tobacco. Said the bishop: "I am not lecturing on the use of tobacco—there are worse things than using tobacco, and breaking one's vows is worse than using it. Die, or keep your vows." Thunderous applause greeted the bishop's remarks.

Bishop Edwin Holt Hughes, of Washington, Methodism's senior bishop, the conference guest preacher, is emphatic in his convictions relative to Methodist preachers violating their solemn vows to abstain. Said Bishop Hughes: "If I felt that I could not live up to my obligation as a minister, I should have in my cretinia, and stop preaching. I would not walk up and down the streets a self-confessed liar by puffing a cigar. Many ministers complain that they are not getting results in their work. How can they expect God to bless a liar?"

Since 1918 the law of the Methodist church stipulates that all men entering the itinerancy shall take solemn vows and pledge themselves to abstain from all use of tobacco. It is widely reported that instances occur where men who have taken the vows have been unfaithful to them, or assert that they did not take the vows and time the law. The situation has attained scandalous proportions, it is declared. The 1918 law, not retroactive, would seek to have a tobaccoless ministry for future generations.

Allied Convoy Losses Small in Africa Invasion. LONDON, Nov. 18.—(AP)—An authoritative British source declared today that losses in the great Allied convoys used for the expedition in North Africa were remarkably small despite the enemy's known concentration of 50 submarines against that operation alone.

His statement was made in predicting further important naval operations in the Mediterranean. Except for one ship, all vessels in the Allied convoys had landed troops and material before they were damaged, the informant said. Prime Minister Churchill announced last Sunday that 13 enemy submarines had been sunk off North Africa. Others have been reported damaged.

Bizerte Blasted by Fortresses

In Tunisia Monday from American planes also have been in contact with the enemy.

From Stockholm by way of Bern, Switzerland, came reports that units of the German fleet have left Norway with the probable intention of trying to cut the Allied supply lines to North Africa. Nazi planes stationed in Norway already have been rushed to bases in Italy for the battle of North Africa, these reports said.

The British naval air force has fought a violent battle against Axis submarines in the western Mediterranean in which an RAF plane reported blowing a German submarine to the surface with a bomb, the U-boat being sent to the bottom later by a naval aircraft torpedo. The U-boat's survivors were picked up.

The Germans boasted meanwhile, that Axis troops had occupied Bizerte and "seized the initiative" in Tunisia.

As the veterans of Dunkirk in the British First Army picked their way toward the naval base of Bizerte, a flying American column was reported knifing across the waist of Tunisia in the direction of Tripoli on a move to trap some 10,000 Germans and Italians hastily put there for a desperate defense.

Driving from the east over the Libyan desert, the British Eighth Army closed the Axis-controlled gap of North Africa to about 800 miles with an 80-mile advance against the groggy remnants of Rommel's force to a point 70 miles from Bengasi.

British sources which must remain anonymous said the enemy was massing 1,000 planes in Sicily, Sardinia, southern Italy and Crete for the imminent air fight for Tunisia.

Moreover, Hitler was reported by the Morocco radio to be withdrawing troops from the Russian front to bolster the exposed southern rim of Europe. Nearly all passenger trains in Hungary and Croatia were reported cancelled. Troops were reported passing through Genoa, the battered supply port of north Italy and Sicily.

Parachute Troops

American parachute troops as well as British participated in the air-borne operations. From an advanced base in North Africa came reports that United States parachute troops had taken an Algerian airfield near a small town on the Tunisian frontier.

It seemed clear that the Allied advance was in two directions. A predominantly British force was advancing along the Mediterranean toward Bizerte and Tunis. A second force composed mostly of Americans was slicing diagonally through central Tunisia by way of Tebessa and Gafsa toward Gabes and Tripoli.

Allied strategists did not underestimate the Axis strength in Tunisia. A British military commentator said frankly that the Allies can expect "heavy fighting" there.

Axis claims of holding stoutly fortified Bizerte were true, a large-scale clash of arms for that naval base appeared imminent. The British and Americans were expected to attack vigorously before the Germans and Italians could consolidate and reinforce the defenses. The enemy, depending on air-borne reinforcements, was not believed to have a formidable force.

Information was lacking as to what airports the British para-

Australians Thankful for Navy Victory

Minister to Russia Praises U. S. Troops Down Under.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 18.—(AP)—Australia's first minister to Soviet Russia, in Washington today en route to Moscow, highly praised the quality of American troops now in his country and said the blows struck by the United States Navy against Japanese seapower in the southwest Pacific caused rejoicing among all Australians.

The new minister, William Slater, is not only the first envoy to Soviet Russia from Australia, but the first from any British dominion. He told newspapermen today he carried no particular problems to his new post, but saw it as an opportunity of conveying Australia's great admiration for the courage and fortitude of Russians in this war.

As for the Americans now serving in Australia, he said:

"Wherever they have gone they have made friends, and they are forging an indestructible bond of friendship between Australia and your great country."

"We have all watched with admiration," he added, "the gallant fight your Marines and soldiers are making on Guadalcanal as part of the defense of Australia."

"We have shared in and rejoice with you in your victories in the surrounding seas, and sorrowed with you in our joint losses in these battles. We feel that we are indeed Allies and comrades in arms in fact and deed, as well as in name."

A. C. Belcher's Will Nullified in Court

The will of A. C. Belcher leaving most of his $88,000 estate to the Baptist Tabernacle, the Baptist Tabernacle Sunday School, Georgia Baptist Orphan's Home, and cutting off his wife with only a house and lot valued at $3,000 and $15 per month, was nullified yesterday in an order by Judge Edgar E. Pomeroy, of Fulton superior court.

Judge Pomeroy ordered the First National Bank, executor, to turn over the estate to Mrs. Emma B. Belcher as her husband's sole heir, and awarded attorneys' fees amounting to $300 to Moore & Post, George P. Whitman and the First National Bank, these to be paid out of the assets of the estate.

Belcher died December 17, 1940.

TRIAL POSTPONED

Judge Virlyn Moore, of Fulton superior court, postponed the trial of Albert Chandler, Negro chauffeur to former Governor Rivers to a later date when it was called by the state. Chandler is charged with the murder of a white woman, and is accused of "influencing and attempting to influence" the governor to issue pardons to prisoners.

The North African coup gained 200,000 to 300,000 tons of shipping for the Allies, the British Ministry of Economic Warfare announced. The tremendous Allied convoys were declared authoritatively to have suffered remarkably small losses, despite the concentration of 50 enemy submarines.

The positions of the French garrisons in Tunisia were obscure, but the very fact that the Germans announced the "capture" of Bizerte indicated the French were fighting them. The Germans insisted they were firmly established in the port which lies only 145 miles from Italian Sardinia.

The German-controlled Paris radio said French colonialists had fought Allied troops in Tunisia but there was no confirmation of this.

Algeria, the great granary and metal storehouse just west of Tunisia, appeared more firmly in American hands with the arrest of some highly placed Algerians who had impeded Allied operations.

German Claims. The Germans said they bombed Bone in Algeria, some 130 miles west of Bizerte, and also Maison Blanche, near Algiers. They claimed to have shot down five Allied planes in Tunis and Libya at the cost of three craft of their own.

In occupied French Morocco on the Atlantic coast, Major General George S. Patton Jr., declared in a proclamation that a special mission of his American troops was to cross Morocco and "strike at the Axis forces wherever they may be found."

In the house of commons, Sir Stafford Cripps warned that "a stern and uphill fight lies ahead of us before we can even gain mastery of North Africa itself."

But the government leader plainly stated that the fury of Allied air might would be turned against Italy as soon as North Africa is cleared of the enemy.

Marines To Enlist 19 Negroes Here

Nineteen Negro men between ages of 17 and 29 are needed for service with the United States Marines, officers at the recruiting office, 76 Forsyth street, announced yesterday.

The Marines are particularly interested in getting men qualified as stenographers, draftsmen, industrial repair men, trumpeters, powder men, powder plant engineers, electricians, switchboard operators, telephone operators, wire chiefs and linemen, both power and telephone.

Group Approves Bill

To Make 3-Cent Pieces

WASHINGTON, Nov. 18.—(AP)—Legislation to permit coinage of three-cent pieces, half-dimes and pennies made from other materials than copper was approved today by the Senate Banking and Currency Committee.

The bill was supported at committee hearings by representatives of the Bureau of the Mint, Treasury and the vending machine industry.

Mrs. Nellie Taylor Ross, director of the mint, testified that the war had deprived the mint of copper for pennies. She has appealed to the people to stop saving pennies and keep them in circulation.

Well, at this writing, they haven't started rationing onions. One of the remaining joys of life is to go home, a trifle hungry, because you've forgotten lunch, slip out to the pantry and steal a large, fat onion, slice it fairly fine, find a few crackers—which suit an onion better than a bread—some vinegar and some salt. And then retire to some hidden nook.

And, by the way, if any of you devoted readers weep because you are not invited out to cocktail parties or teas or whatever, I can give you a formula which beats Emily Post. Just eat a big raw onion—and the phone will ring. Inviting you to an intimate little affair—just a few friends, you know.

I haven't consulted Miss Post and our own Dixie George is out on a job, so I don't know. But I should guess that under such circumstances it would be advisable to slice up a couple of pounds of onions, place them upon a silver tray, garnish with parsley, and attend the party. Ask the butler to praise the Lord and pass the onions. Few could resist both the onions and the phone both. And then, after a bit of time to permit the onions to exert their influence, you can enter, safely.

Evicted

Having occasion a few days ago to visit the office of Alfred C. Newell—in the Candler building, I thought I was surprised, pained and grieved to find it wasn't there. The Army had taken over the floor—and several others, I think. I finally found he had moved to the Trust Company of Georgia building.

But I surmise that Alf, getting out of his car or off a bus, still goes to the Candler building, takes the elevator to the 15th floor and is amazed and astounded to discover a bunch of total strangers in his old quarters. I know I tried to force entrance into the old Georgian building three months after the Georgian was no more. But I am notoriously absent-minded.

For Newell and his life insurance business were among the first tenants of the Candler building—perhaps the very first. They moved in about 1906, when the marble carvings of the main floor were not complete. Newell must have paid his rent promptly through good times and bad for he was never evicted—until the Army took over.

I'll bet he and Miss Dunlap, the cashier, feel lost in the new digs.

Got a Knife?
Overseeing, against protests, a few afternoons ago the construction of a doghouse—for the dog—I was intrigued by observing Eddie, our occasional handy man, pulling out a knife—a large knife with a large blade.

He proceeded to trim down a board in the right side of the old oak board which had served many purposes. Using nothing but his knife.

It sent me back to youth when the small town folk among whom I lived thought a good-sized knife was as important a possession as a watch. Indeed, more important. Nobody needed a watch. The sawmill whistle blew at 6 a. m. and again at noon and again at quitting time. But a knife came in handy.

Eddie's knife had good steel and a razor edge. It went through that oak like a Filipino bolo through a sentry's neck.

I have a knife. A pretty little gold-plated thing used principally to attach to the other end of my watch chain. It is fairly good as a manicure instrument—but I'd hate to try sharpening a pencil with it. I wonder how many of my city acquaintances tote a knife—not for murderous purposes but for peaceful uses. It appears to have gone out of fashion.

Onions Still Free; Let Us All Indulge Before Rationing

Carol Donated To Movement, Priest Admits

Ex-Monarch Contributed $4,000 To 'Free Rumania,' Moraru Says.

DETROIT, Nov. 18.—(AP)—Father Gligharie Moraru, Detroit priest of the Rumanian Orthodox church who was indicted with two others yesterday on espionage charges, describes his free Rumania movement as working "for the triumph of democracy" and says it "has spread all over the world, in behalf of the Allied cause."

Moraru, charged with activities designed to effect entry of the former King Carol into the United States for the purpose of establishing a monarchist government-in-exile, asserts his free Rumania movement does not support any foreign government or foreign political party.

Founded in Canada.
The organization was founded in Canada in December, 1940, he says, as a patriotic movement.

"I did ask King Carol to help me spread the movement throughout the world," Moraru said in a statement, "and he did it gladly, having in mind the Allied cause and his country's too."

Moraru admitted having received gifts totalling $4,000 from the former monarch to further the free Rumania movement, but there were no contracts or conditions attached to the donations, he declared.

Government investigators said activities of the three men, two of them priests and the other an editor of Rumanian publications, had a definitely subversive tinge. They are charged with violating the espionage act and with failing to register as foreign agents.

2,000 Members.
Federal officials said the free Rumania movement headed by Moraru had a membership of approximately 2,000 and had no connection with an organization headed by Charles Davila, former Rumanian minister to the United States, also designed to set up a Rumanian government-in-exile in this country. Davila resigned his ministerial post when his country showed Fascist tendencies.

Investigators said if such a government as proposed by the free Rumania movement should gain recognition in the United States its leaders would be given control of Rumanian government gold stores frozen in 1940 by the United States Treasury Department when Rumania joined Germany in the war. The funds are variously estimated at from $40,000,000 to $100,000,000. Also impounded is a $15,000,000 personal fortune of King Carol.

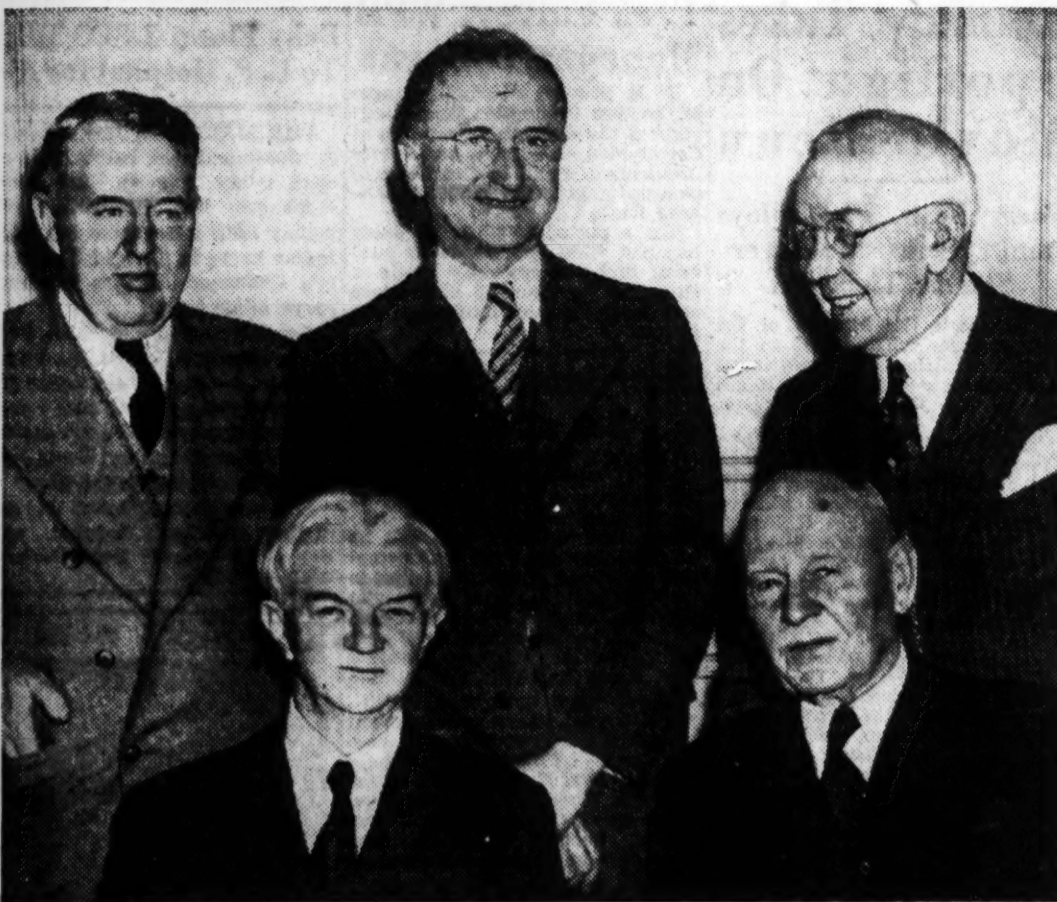

RED CROSS EXERCISES.
ACWORTH, Ga., Nov. 18.—Beginning with November, Junior Red Cross exercises will be held each month in the chapel of the Acworth school auditorium, according to Mrs. K. W. Brittain, Cobb county chairman of the Junior Red Cross.

Mrs. Brittain was here today and she said the school here was organized 100 per cent. She will conduct the monthly exercises.

when Dr. Gordon Lang retired as the Archbishop of Canterbury, there was little doubt in the religious world about his successor. Dr. William Temple was the man.

Temple's domination of the Malvern Conference some months before had established his leadership, not only of the Church of England, but quite definitely he had become the spokesman for many churchmen throughout the British Empire and the world. Born in 1881, Dr. Temple has followed his father to the responsible peak of religious leadership as Archbishop of Canterbury.

Beginning with the Malvern Conference, Dr. Temple has gone on to emphasize six immediate goals in the social aims of Christianity. While we may not altogether agree with all his methods, we must acknowledge the vital significance of these goals and, certainly, we rejoice in the positive results with which this great leader

EDUCATORS MEET—An informal discussion of present and future problems which face leaders in the educational field took place at a luncheon yesterday at which Dr. William H. Kilpatrick, professor emeritus of education at Teachers College, Columbia University, was honor guest. In the group were (left to right, seated) Dr. Kilpatrick and Dr. M. L. Brittain, president of Georgia Tech, and (standing, left to right) Dr. Guy H. Wells, president of G. S. C. W., the host; Philip Weltner, former chancellor of the University System, and Dr. M. Ashby Jones, Atlanta minister.

NO PREFERRED POSITION FOR AXIS AFTER THE WAR

Editor, Constitution: In the shaping of a new world it is so easy for us to overlook certain basic facts.

In Prime Minister Winston Churchill's recent speech, he stated in plain English that he did not expect to overlook the interest of England. This does not mean that he is not interested in building a better world, but it does mean that we must be realists as well as idealists. It would be too bad if we were shedding blood for the benefit of the Japanese, the Germans or the Italians, for we must not overlook that had they been victorious, they certainly would have exacted a heavy penalty from us.

In principle, the Axis powers will find that they will be dealt with fairly, but they will not be altogether able to have equal advantage with those of us who will have, for generations, to pay for the ambitions of Hitler, Mussolini and Hirohito.

I am interested in a better world, where there will be justice done, but above all, I am interested in a world that will protect future generations so they will not again suffer in the giving up of young men, such as the supreme sacrifices which we are making. Winston Churchill was right when he said all he could offer was "tears, blood, sweat and toil." These he has offered, but along with this we will reap our reward, and we will see that justice is done, but we will not start off by giving the Germans and the Italians and the Japs a preferred position. They will have to earn this, and we can leave this to Roosevelt, Churchill and Stalin, for here you have a combination of men who will not overlook our interests, nor will they work hardships upon others.

ARMAND MAY, Atlanta.

CPA's of Georgia Will Meet Here

Certified public accountants of Georgia will meet at the Ansley hotel here tomorrow to study new income tax law changes and the victory tax. E. M. Kendrick, Atlanta C. P. A., announced yesterday.

With the exception of a luncheon meeting, at which the visiting accountants will be guests of the Atlanta chapter, the entire day will be devoted to the discussion of technical matters involved in wartime from Atlanta, Albany, Augusta, Columbus, Macon and Savannah.

Guests of the society will be representatives of the Treasury Department, State Department of Revenue and the National Association of Cost Accountants.

Telephone Official Gets New Position

Claude J. Yates has been appointed general commercial engineer of the Southern Bell Telephone and Telegraph Company at the general office in Atlanta to succeed Major Robert M. Goodman, officials of the company announced yesterday.

Major Goodman, an official of the company here for 22 years, and commercial engineer since 1938, has entered military service. Yates has filled various positions in the district offices at New Orleans and Shreveport, and the state headquarters at Atlanta and Birmingham. His most recent positions were those of Georgia commercial engineer, Alabama sales manager and Alabama commercial engineer.

Dr. Kilpatrick Calls Defeat Of Talmadge 'Victory for State'

The defeat of Governor Talmadge in the recent election is "the greatest victory Georgia has ever seen," William H. Kilpatrick, professor emeritus of education at Teachers College, Columbia University, declared here yesterday. The recent troubles of the University System and the results of the election, the educator believes, will make for great progress in education in the state and make it apparent that "it will be a long time before a politician would dare touch the school system."

Born in Greene county, a Mercer graduate and a resident of the state half his life, Dr. Kilpatrick keeps in constant touch with the affairs of Georgia when he is in New York through his close friends, Dr. Guy H. Wells, president of G. S. C. W., and Dr. M. L. Brittain, president of Georgia Tech.

"It would have been a calamity beyond words had Talmadge won and wreaked his vengeance on the school system," he declared. Under Ellis Arnall he looks for great forward strides in education here.

Guest of Dr. Wells.
In the state as the guest of Dr. Wells, the educator is spending a week meeting with teachers throughout Georgia discussing the present-day problems facing southern educators.

Significant in the election was the fact that the young people took an active and effective part in politics, Dr. Kilpatrick pointed out. "That was education they can't get in books," he declared. "The mental and moral capacity for citizenship was built by their participation in the election."

Visualizing the war as a factor which will develop leaders among the youth of the nation, Dr. Kilpatrick predicted that young women, in particular, will loom increasingly important in the affairs of the nation. He explained his views this way: "The young men will be in the Army and the great majority of them won't do much thinking. They will be following orders. But the women at home will be doing a lot of thinking—serious thinking, about community and world problems. And from this women will emerge as leaders in post-war affairs."

NO ASPIRIN SAFER

"classical" education, Dr. Kilpatrick declared that teaching methods must change after the war. "We must begin to do what we have been merely professing to do. We must get young people to study the current problems of life. It will be in the face of opposition, but it is a simple fact that you can't live history or the classics. Only by using these studies to interpret and measure the present day do they have a place in modern education."

Reading Books.
"One learns by experience, not only by reading books," he declared, "and the day must come when young people participate responsibly in present-day affairs. High school students must become analyzers of the problems of their communities and they must work out solutions of those problems. College students must take a broader view and participate actively in solving the problems of the nation and the world."

Theories of education, too, must take into consideration the human traits psychologists have long recognized, and capitalize on them.

"As long as school work is merely memory work and reciting and the teacher does all the thinking, school will be dull for the average student. And that average student is apt to become mischievous to relieve the boredom and to get into the spotlight. If teachers recognize the fact that it is a human trait to want to stand out from the crowd, and allow students to gain recognition among their fellows as a result of their own efforts, education will take on a new meaning," he declared.

And he supported his argument by referring to extensive studies made of the so-called "progressive" schools which allow the student considerable opportunity to exercise initiative and discretion. "The record shows that such children are far above the average in honesty, aptitude and resourcefulness."

Dr. Kilpatrick was guest at a luncheon given here yesterday by Dr. Wells. Other guests included Dr. Brittain, Dr. M. Ashby Jones, Philip Weltner, former chancellor of the University System, and Ralph McGill, editor of The Constitution.

He will address teachers at Dalton today and will speak at G. S. C. W. tomorrow.

WEATHER FORECAST:

RAIN OR SHINE

Tomorrow the Sun Will Rise at 8:16 a. m.--and Thousands of Workers Already Will Be at Their Jobs

These days, thousands of working men and women are on the job before the sun comes up. Because of the Staggered Hours program, many of them are going to work earlier than they used to. Cheerfully, willingly, they are accepting the discomfort of getting up in the dark and going to their places of employment before sun up.

Every such worker who faithfully performs his task on Uncle Sam's home front is doing his necessary part in winning the war. He is putting his best efforts into war production or essential civilian work. And—just as important—by going to work before sunrise he is making it possible for Atlanta's transportation system to carry other workers to their jobs.

Staggered Hours spread out the working hours so that all may ride. This is the most important single step Atlanta has taken to make sure that our street cars, trackless trolleys and buses will be able to meet the heavy wartime demand imposed upon them.

We must hold the line and keep our Staggered Hours program, even though—these short autumn days—our alarm clocks ring in the dark and we ride to work by twilight.

DR. WILLIAM TEMPLE.
One of the most powerful personalities in the world today is Dr. William Temple, Archbishop of Canterbury. I saw and heard him speak in London some years ago, when he was Bishop of York. Captivated by his personality, I felt very certain then that I was listening to a voice that would be heard around the world, should our Father grant him long life. A year ago, when Dr. Gordon Lang retired as the Archbishop of Canterbury, there was little doubt in the religious world about his successor. Dr. William Temple was the man.

Rationing of Cheese, Butter, Fluid Milk Called Inevitable

WASHINGTON, Nov. 18.—(AP)—Faced with war demands beyond the apparent ability of farmers to supply, the War Production Board's food requirements committee is expected soon to recommend civilian rationing of cheese, butter and fluid milk in larger cities, and a curtailment of manufacture of ice cream.

Paradise Fans Get New Type Entertainment

Talented Kathryn Duffy Girls Offer Unusual Dance Routines.

Henry Grady Paradise room fans currently are thrilling to a new type night club entertainment introduced recently by the beautiful and talented Kathryn Duffy Girls.

Featuring nimble-footed Sally Urban, the Kathryn Duffy girls offer some of the most unusual dance routines, costumes and settings ever to play in the Paradise room. The "Dances of the Islands" number, in which the girls use radium lighting effects and especially treated costumes to bring out a brilliant color silhouette technique, is the single highlight of the show. Also the "Crowning of the May," a dance feature in which the male audience takes part, tripping the light fantastic around the Maypole, is carried out much to the glee of the audience. Gayle Robbins, as mistress of ceremonies, peddles a tune about a burlesque queen with finesse. Mary Allgood's "Tribute to George M. Cohan," especially her "Over There" number, with good response, the Monteros, adagio team; John Panter, Radio City Music Hall tenor, and Rita Roper, dance impressionist, all get curtain calls for their grand work. It's Judy Johnson's lavish production, starting 24 people, and should enjoy an exceptionally long run.

Silas Green To Offer Show Here Tonight

Musical Revue Will Make Last Stand for Duration in City.

Silas Green, of New Orleans, the colorful musical revue which this year is rounding out its 35th annual coast-to-coast tour, will make its last stand in Atlanta for the duration at 8:30 o'clock tonight at the municipal auditorium.

The 1942 edition of the Silas Green Revue surpasses anything yet presented by this veteran entertaining troupe. Ford Wiggins again will be seen in the role of Silas. H. H. Hudley Jr., producer, has woven the war theme into this year's production.

Others featured in the cast include Charles Morton Jr., prodigy sensation; the Al Gaines acrobatic team; the Harding Brothers' quartet; the Top Hatters, dancers and a chorus line of 20 girls. Reserved seats have been provided for white patrons.

AAA OFFICER. ROCHELLE, Ga., Nov. 18.—Elton Robinson, of Ellaville, has arrived in Rochelle to assume charge of the local AAA office. He replaces Frank Hatcher, who has returned to the University of Georgia.

Sources close to the committee who requested that they not be quoted by name said such action appeared inevitable. They added that the Office of Price Administration may be asked to raise some ceiling prices to help dairymen and processors meet advancing production costs.

Secretary of Agriculture Wickard today told the WPB committee, which he heads, that he did not believe farmers can meet 1943 demands.

Dairy Requirements. Dairy requirements of American and Allied armed forces were said to have increased 250 per cent over this year. Civilian demands were reported increasing also, due to shortages of meat and rising incomes.

Wickard, committee sources said, estimated that next year's milk production might fall short of requirements by 20,000,000,000 pounds.

Declaring dairymen face growing shortages of labor, equipment and transportation facilities, the secretary was said to have expressed the view that production would do well to match this year's record output of 120,000,000,000 pounds.

Outlines Situation. After outlining this situation, the secretary submitted a program involving these proposals:

1. Ration fluid milk in some cities to assure ample supplies for children, invalids, and pregnant mothers.
2. Ration cheese as well as meat, possibly cutting civilian supplies of cheese approximately 40 per cent.
3. Limit distribution of butter until plans for rationing can be developed.
4. Limit ice cream manufacture to about 75 per cent of this year's output.
5. Revise price ceilings to, increase cheese, and possibly butter and evaporated milk prices.

The committee deferred final action on the program until a later meeting. Officials said figures were not yet available on allotments, if rationing is ordered.

Young Harris Sets Christmas Period

SPECIAL TO THE CONSTITUTION. YOUNG HARRIS, Ga., Nov. 18.—Young Harris College will close its fall quarter Wednesday, November 25. The winter quarter will open the following Monday and students may enter either the college or the academy on that date, it is announced.

The Christmas holidays will begin December 16 and will continue until January 4. Young Harris is making this change in its schedule to try to fit into the program of transportation as provided by the military authorities, President J. W. Starnes states.

On Monday, November 30, a joint presentation board from the Army, Navy and Marine Corps will be one the campus for the purpose of presenting to the students the plans for the formation of the Enlisted Reserve Corps. Several of the young men students will be enrolled in this form of service.

During the past weekend a deputation of students from the University of Georgia, under the leadership of Dr. and Mrs. Snider conducted worship services at the morning session of the church school and also at the Sunday evening hour. On Saturday before, they also conducted a series of folk-games in the gymnasium.

KILLED IN CRASH—Private Marion Lester Heisler, 20, Atlanta boy serving with the Army Air Force in Denver, Col., was killed Tuesday night, along with two other soldiers, when a truck in which they were riding overturned.

Soldier Killed Shortly Before His Graduation

Two Others Die With Truck Overturns.

A few hours before they expected to hear of his graduation from the Army Armored school in Denver, Mr. and Mrs. J. E. Heisler, of 1287 Euclid avenue, N. E., yesterday were notified of their son's death.

Private Marion Lester Heisler, 20, was one of three soldiers killed when a big Army truck overturned near Lowry Field, at Denver, Tuesday afternoon. Nineteen others were injured.

His parents were notified of his death yesterday morning. He was to have been graduated from the armored school last night. Private Heisler enlisted in the Army Air Corps August 7, and received his basic training in Atlantic City.

He was a graduate of Tech High, where he was an honor student for four years. He also sang in the school glee club. An older brother, Private Johnnie E. Heisler Jr., is in the Army Air Corps in England. Other survivors include his parents; five sisters, Mary, Hazel, Barbara, Theresa and Shirley, and another brother, Philip. Funeral arrangements will be announced later.

Today Is Deadline For 'Sack Contest'

Today is the last day in which Atlanta youngsters can enter the Walworth & Hood Company's "sack contest" and be eligible for the sporting goods prizes and free tickets to see "The Forest Rangers," which begins tomorrow at the Fox theater.

To the youngsters—boys or girls—who bring in the greatest number of old flour, salt or sugar sacks Walworth & Hood will give $5, $3 and $2 in merchandise. The Fox is offering a number of tickets to other winners. The old bags will be used by the United States Forestry Service to make "fag bags." These little bags are handed out to those visiting the forests to put their matches and cigarettes in, thus reducing the hazard of fires.

Comedy Takes Spotlight On Movie Menu

Four New Photoplays and One Holdover Start at Theaters.

Comedy is the keynote of the new pictures which open on the screens of Atlanta theaters today and tomorrow with top honors going to the Rialto's "My Sister Eileen."

"The Forest Rangers," a comedy-drama set in the north woods, opens at the Fox tomorrow; Lionel Barrymore is featured at the Grand in "Calling Dr. Gillespie" and "Are Husbands Necessary," a comedy-romance begins at the Roxy tomorrow. The Rhodes theater holds over "One of Our Aircraft Is Missing."

Rialto
"My Sister Eileen," adapted for the screen from the Broadway hit of the same name, and starring Rosalind Russell, Janet Blair and Brian Aherne, comes to the screen of the Rialto theater today for an unlimited engagement.

The story is about a couple of sisters, Rosalind, the older, and Janet, the younger, as "Aileen." The two girls visit New York seeking careers. They move into a Greenwich Village basement apartment and discover that the city is blasting a subway tunnel directly underneath. Also that any passerby can look in on them any time, night or day, from the sidewalk level windows.

Fox
Combining comedy with the thrills of fighting forest fires, "The Forest Rangers" starring Fred MacMurray, Paulette Goddard and Susan Hayward makes its bow at the Fox theater tomorrow.

Adapted from the best-selling novel by Isobel Scott Rorick, "Mr. and Mrs. Cugat," this comedy tells of George and Lil Cugat, a happy pair who have at least one thing in common, the habit of "whiffing." To "whiff" is to prevaricate, to tell little white lies. Contributing to the fun of "Are Husbands Necessary," is Eugene Pallette.

Loew's Grand
Lionel Barrymore takes up where Lew Ayres left off in the latest of the medical series, "Calling Dr. Gillespie," which opens at Loew's Grand theater today.

Donna Reed, Philip Dorn and Alma Kruger handle the other lead roles. Starred as the crusty famed surgeon in the series, "Calling Dr. Gillespie," Barrymore introduces a new angle to this series of comedies when he tracks down a lunatic who is on the loose in the hospital. Mystery, drama and a speck of comedy are combined to make it an interesting evening's entertainment.

Roxy

A hilarious story of two newlyweds and their domestic problems is "Are Husbands Necessary," which plays at the Roxy theater beginning tomorrow. Ray Milland, Patricia Morison and Betty Field handle the comedy antics.

Adapted from the best-selling novel by Isobel Scott Rorick, "Mr. and Mrs. Cugat," this comedy tells of George and Lil Cugat, a happy pair who have at least one thing in common, the habit of "whiffing." To "whiff" is to prevaricate, to tell little white lies. Contributing to the fun of "Are Husbands Necessary," is Eugene Pallette.

Rhodes

Continuing for a second week in Atlanta, "One of Our Aircraft Is Missing" moves to the Rhodes theater today.

Featuring an all-English cast and produced by Alexander Korda, this story of the skies over Britain tells a near-true picture of how a bomber crew is forced down over Holland and how, aided by secret underground workers, they escape past the Gestapo to return safely to their homeland.

Shorthorn Sale Set at Moultrie

SPECIAL TO THE CONSTITUTION. MOULTRIE, Ga., Nov. 18.—The fall show and sale of registered Shorthorn cattle from Tennessee and the corn belt will be held at the livestock auditorium Friday, November 20, according to W. E. Aycock, sales manager, who says the consignment is furnished by the American Shorthorn Breeders' Association, whose representative, Rank C. Forbes, will attend.

Simultaneous with the show Friday morning, prizes in the fourth annual Colquitt county corn contest will be awarded. "These awards," said H. McDowell, of the Moultrie Chamber of Commerce, "will consist of purebred registered heifers, purebred pigs, fertilizers and other merchandise prizes."

He said the auction sale of registered cattle is to begin at 1 p. m., eastern war time.

"SPRINGTIME IN THE ROCKIES"

Everybody top that 10% by New Years

Your money is the greatest raw material of war. From it come planes, tanks, guns, ships, food—all the things that will enable our boys to bring this plague to the speediest possible end.

Pass the ammunition . . .

- ... to destroy the power of enemies who practice treachery, believe in slavery, tear down religion and strike at the vitals of the government of free peoples.
- ... to blast an enemy who lures our soldiers to death under a flag of truce.
- ... to stop a foe who razed Rotterdam and Warsaw and Shanghai and Lidice as "lessons to the people" . . . and would raze your town to blackened ruins, too.
- ... to ring the tyrants with bombs and bullets, with torpedoes and mines, with an avenging hail of metal.

... to get this terrible struggle over quickly and bring our soldier sons home sooner.

... to preserve for ourselves and our children a free America in a free world where the sea and the air are arteries of commerce, not combat.

This ammunition—money from all of us for bond purchases—is needed NOW. That is the reason for the Victory Quota drive until New Year's Day.

Twenty-two million Americans are loaning their money by purchases of War Bonds through payroll savings plans. They are buying up to 8% of their income.

But it takes thirty million people buying at least 10% to win this war.

Pass the ammunition. Your money is ammunition now. Pass it so that you can go on praising the Lord in freedom. Pass it so that your children and your children's children will praise the Lord that you made the sacrifice.

ALUMINUM COMPANY OF AMERICA

This advertisement is dedicated to all those loyal Americans, including our own employees, who are working together unselfishly in the great common cause of Victory.

How to do it Today

In this crusade, one thing that counts is REGULARITY. We must all pledge ourselves to buy bonds every payday or every month. The only way to make sure of this is to buy the bonds BEFORE we do anything else with our income.

You fall into one or the other of these classifications:

1. If you are employed where there is a Payroll Savings Plan—sign up today. Merely tell the paymaster or treasurer of your company to deduct 10% or more from your salary or wages for War Bonds. One extra advantage of this plan is that, in case of loss or damage to your bonds, your company's records will help you to have the bonds replaced by the Government.
2. If you are employed where there is no Payroll Savings Plan; if you are in business for yourself; if you are a professional man or woman; or if you work anywhere or have your income from some source other than salary or wages—enroll today in the U. S. Treasury's Regular Purchase Plan. You will get a reminder, and a self-addressed envelope for your remittance, at whatever regular intervals you specify. Among the many places you can enroll are your bank, your Savings and Loan Association, your department store. You can even write direct to the Treasurer of the United States in Washington.

If you want more information about War Savings Bonds, write to the War Savings Staff, Treasury Department, Washington, D. C., or call your local War Savings Staff office (listed in your telephone book under "U. S. Government Offices—Treasury Department.")

How To Buy Your Tomorrow Today

Far-sighted people who buy War Bonds today will have the money tomorrow with which to buy the products of industry's "Imaginering": the revolutionary new automobiles; the new comfortable homes; the labor-saving household appliances; the new and improved aluminum cooking utensils; the television radios and all the flood of other things that war-sharpened inventiveness will throw open to us.

Right now Alcoa's Imaginering is devoted to producing aluminum that will help American planes fly faster, farther and higher than anything the enemy possesses . . . but the marvelous production of aluminum for war (nearly 7 times that of peacetime America) and the four war-time price reductions on aluminum, are among the things which are helping designers, architects, engineers to do the Imaginering that will make many of these things possible.

The pent-up demand for all these things will create the post-war market that will make jobs for our boys when they come home. The money which you and millions of other Americans are putting into War Bonds will then become the cash-in-pocket with which to buy the things everyone will want in peace.

War Savings Bonds are backed by the U. S. Government. They are the safest place you can put your money. A War Bond is a Government Savings Account that pays you interest. Buy War Bonds regularly to save for the things you will want tomorrow. Buy Your Tomorrow Today.

* Imaginering: a word coined by Alcoa from imagination and engineering; the art of planning today the things you will want tomorrow.

British, Trailing Rommel, Push Through Mountains

WITH THE BRITISH ARMORED COLUMN IN THE JEBEL ADKAR (GREEN MOUNTAINS), Libya, Nov. 16.—(Delayed)—(AP)—British columns pushed on today through the Green Mountains of Cirenaica in torrential rainstorms which made progress difficult.

Except for Arava, we found the whole Jebel region deserted.

Enemy troops withdrew ahead of us and all Italian colonists to the north of Tripolitania. In the last two British occupations of this region most of the colonists remained on their farms. So many were killed and so many farms pillaged by the natives that this time it was decided to move them for their safety.

The outrages occurred mainly in a period of anarchy between the departure of Italian troops and the arrival of the British.

Supply Problem.

Getting supplies to the advancing columns is a problem for they now are more than 500 miles from the Alamein line where the offensive began three and a half weeks ago. These columns have already covered more ground than those which reached Bengasi in the campaigns last winter and the previous one at this campaign's starting point was farther to the east.

The retiring enemy is destroying everything he leaves behind.

That own of Giovanni, in the heart of the Jebel Adkar, is so bare that even the dogs roaming the streets had difficulty finding scraps of food.

Giovanni Berta is a model town of trim white buildings built by the Fascists as one of the centers of the Libyan colonization scheme. The only Italian remaining in Giovanni Berta was the village priest.

"This is the third time the English have captured my parish, once at Tobruk and twice here," the pastor, who is a bearded Silesian, said. "I am gradually learning the English language."

The local Fascist headquarters looked forlorn but it still sported Fascist mottoes like "He who dies for the fatherland has lived long enough."

Fine Words.

The following excerpt from a speech by Premier Mussolini was carved over the entrance:

"The Italian people have created the empire with their blood, fecundated it with their labor and will defend it with their arms. In this supreme certainty lift your standards, your hearts and your weapons to the Fascist legionnaires to salute the reappearance, after 15 centuries, of the empire on the eternal hills of Rome."

The last defenders of the town were not Fascists but Germans, who blew up bridges and mined its approaches two hours before we arrived.

Last night was the most uncomfortable we have ever passed in Africa, worse than anything in the desert.

Yesterday the mountains with their green slopes and crisp air were welcome after crossing the hundreds of miles of desert.

But we encamped in the open and cold rain fell through the night, saturating us to the skin.

Crouch in Tanks.

Armored force soldiers spent the night crouched in their tanks and armored cars.

A few hours before we had been glad to leave the desert but after the soaking we all longed for the desert again.

Three German planes bombed us again today but did no damage. In cutting from the coastal road into the mountain country we bypassed Derna and any force which may be left there is effectively cut off.

Other British units hold the coast east of it.

As we crossed the desert we met a Senussi Bedouin, who was apace of current events.

The news travels fast in the desert. Although our unit was the first to land in North Africa, speaking half Arabic and half Italian, he said the Americans are in Tunisia and the British are here and the Italians and Germans will be crushed between two armies.

Foe of Italians.

"I shall be glad of it for the Italians have hanged many Senussi," he said.

The Bedouin then inquired about the health of the head of the Senussi sect, who lives in Cairo and who urged the Senussi to join the British in the war on the Italians.

The Senussi are a puritanical sect of Moslems founded about a century ago and Giarabub, where their founder is entombed, is their holy city.

We passed the former headquarters of the 21st German panzer division and found it deserted. Here as elsewhere the Germans

Lottery Suspect Serving as Juror

A juror in Fulton superior court giving the name of Albert Hall admitted yesterday he is the A. B. (Bud) Hall scheduled to appear on a lottery charge tomorrow before Recorder A. W. Callaway.

Hall was pardoned in 1937 from five suspended sentences on lottery charges by former Governor Rivers. He and R. T. Watkins were arrested last week in a raid on a house on Highland avenue.

Japs Admit Loss of Battleship

NEW YORK, Nov. 18.—(AP)—Japan made her broadest admission of naval losses of the war today, apparently recognizing the futility of attempting to hide her disaster in the Solomons, but linked it with fantastic claims of damage inflicted in order to make the news as palatable as possible.

Although the Japanese admissions were sweeping for Tokyo, they did not include all the losses the Americans officially announced were inflicted on Nippon's forces.

Tokyo listed as sunk a battleship, the first time in the war that Japan has made such an admission, a cruiser and three destroyers. The imperial headquarters then put down as damaged another battleship and seven transports.

In the crushing defeat at Midway, where an invasion spearhead aimed at Hawaii and perhaps the American west coast was turned back, the Japanese admitted losing on aircraft carrier sunk and an aircraft carrier and a cruiser damaged.

Tokyo sugarcoated its bad news today with an extravagant and unsupported claim that the American Navy was routed and forced to flee.

The damaging admissions apparently were smoked out by official United States accounts of the victory over the Japanese in the Solomons last week.

U.S. Bombers Raid Lorient, LaPallice

LONDON, Nov. 18.—(AP)—United States heavy bombers, both Flying Fortresses and Liberators, raided the German bases of Lorient and LaPallice on the French coast this afternoon. American headquarters announced tonight.

The brief communique did not give the results of the attacks, but said one American bomber was missing. Its text:

"Flying Fortresses (B-17's) and Liberators (B-24's) attacked the German bases at LaPallice and Lorient this afternoon. From these operations one of our bombers is missing."

LaPallice is near La Rochelle, some 350 miles from the nearest British coast, and Lorient is on the south side of the Breton peninsula.

Treasury Approves Bill Authorizing Silver Sale

WASHINGTON, Nov. 18.—(AP)—Treasury approval of a bill authorizing the government to sell silver from its stockpile for war purposes at a minimum average price of 50 cents an ounce was announced today by the author, Senator Green, Democrat, Rhode Island.

The Navy Department also recommended enactment of the bill in a letter to Chairman Wagner, Democrat, New York, of the Senate Banking and Currency Committee.

Mrs. H. S. Moore Is Author Of Exciting New Mystery

♦ ♦ ♦ ALMOST EVERY DAY newspaper headlines reveal the active participation of some Atlantan in the exciting theater of combat. And among the numerous fiction and non-fiction books laid against the background of a world at arms, it isn't surprising that Atlanta should make headlines in this phase, also. It is Mrs. Harry Schlesinger Moore, known to the reading public as H. S. F. Moore, who has brought Atlanta to the fore again with her mystery, "Murder Goes Rolling Along," which comes off the press early next month.

Exciting, fast moving, with an Army background, the novel not only possesses entertainment value, but is a good, solid mystery. The Medical Corps, the hospital personnel of Fort Bragg, and their associated friends, relatives and domestic servants provide the characters that make up this sprightly, up-to-the-minute story.

The plot deals with Janet Master, a young widow whose taste for the Army grows stronger every time she meets Major Carey Peters, and who finds that a feud begun in civilian life can usurp Army discipline. Bad feeling is increased between Dr. Stockton and Dr. Fleming, former brothers-in-law, one having become a colonel and the other a captain. Thrown in for good measure is Stockton's brassy new wife, his sister, who is a weather-beaten virago with a martyr complex; Colonel Fleming's charming sister, whose myopia is an important part of the mystery, and the off-stage figure of a small girl whose picture nearly causes a second murder. Enlivening the whole are the bright goings-on between Janet Master and Major Peters.

The author is thoroughly familiar with Army life, for she spent many years as a resident of Army posts. Naturally, her story has the authenticity necessary to make its characters and background thoroughly realistic. She has been a well-known figure in the literary world for some years, having had short sketches published in numerous national magazines, although this is her first full-length novel.

Literary talent, however, seems to run in the Schlesinger family: As you know, Mrs. Moore's sister, Rae S. Neely, who is Mrs. Frank Neely in private life, is the author of the beautiful epic poem, "Marguerite at an autographing tea a few years ago."

Atlantans who haven't already come under the spell of Mrs. Moore's charm will have the opportunity of meeting this delightful author at an early date, for she will be honor guest at an autographing tea to be given in Rich's tearoom on December 4, the publication date of "Murder Goes Rolling Along." According to reliable critics, it is a book you don't want to miss reading, and is one of those mysteries destined for best-seller lists, its sales "rolling along."

Coat hangers are badly needed by both the officers and the enlisted men at the Lawson Technician School. If you have some that you can spare, please leave them at the desk at the Georgian Terrace or at the Open Door Canteen on Peachtree street.

♦ ♦ ♦ MARGUERITE STEEDMAN, Atlanta's popular and gifted author, whose book, "But You'll Come Back," is still listed on the New York Herald Tribune best-seller list, is back from an extended trip to the east, where she gained new triumphs, this time in the field of radio.

While in Boston, Marguerite was invited to be guest speaker on Imogene Wolcott's program, "Yankee Kitchen," over station WMAC, which, as the title implies, deals with cooking and the preparation of various dishes. Although the Atlanta author denies any practical knowledge of cooking, her description of famous old southern dishes in her book was proof enough that she would delight her unseen audience with a talk on the subject.

Stopping over in the nation's capital, where she visited friends and relatives, Marguerite was invited to appear as guest speaker with Mary

Mason over NBC's Washington station.

♦ ♦ ♦ WHEN THE Neighborhood Garden Club met recently with Mrs. William Funkhouser on Woodward way, the members had the interesting opportunity of seeing the handsome epergne owned by Mrs. John A. Boykin, which once belonged to her mother, the late Mrs. John A. Perdue. Mrs. Boykin arranged harvest fruits in the epergne as a feature of the program, and also gave the very interesting history of the container, as follows:

"The epergne was made for Emperor Napoleon for the Trianon palace, where Josephine lived. It is Empire style and came from the estate of Charles J. Bonaparte, whose grandmother was the famous Betsy Patterson. Betsy married Jerome, brother of Napoleon, who had her taken off her boat and landed in Portugal, with the result that she never set foot in France. Charles J. Bonaparte was in President Theodore Roosevelt's cabinet as attorney general and secretary of navy." In addition to Mrs. Boykin's talk, the club members also heard Mrs. Thornton Marye speak on "Genesis of Garden Pattern." Mrs. John Sanford presided and presented an artistic dried arrangement. Mrs. T. J. Hightower distributed 50 bed jackets and baby squares which club members made to be donated to the maternity ward at Grady hospital for Christmas.

♦ ♦ ♦ THE MEMBERS of the Chi Rho Sigma sorority at the Georgia Junior College have certainly had lots of excitement. First of all, the surprise marriage of their president, Molly Puckett, to Lieutenant Herbert A. Wilson, and now the circus dance to be given by the pledges of the sorority for the senior members. The affair will be held Friday evening in the refectory of the school. The decorations will be appropriate scenes from circus life.

Officers of the pledges are: President, Sue Robinson, and vice president, Emily McNeelley. Officers of the sorority are: President, Mary Ann Linnane; vice president, Mildred Spears; secretary, Vera Freeman; treasurer, Elizabeth Lynch, and social chairman, Betty Whitmire. Chaperons for the circus dance will be: Dr. and Mrs. George Sparks, Doctors A. J. and Merle G. Walker, Mr. and Mrs. Richard A. Trotter, Mr. and Mrs. W. M. Carson, Mrs. R. G. Young, Mr. and Mrs. W. E. Harris, and Mr. and Mrs. Leland O'Callaghan.

For Miss McDonald.

Complimenting Miss Sara McDonald, whose marriage to J. A. Bowen Jr. will be an event of Thanksgiving Day at the chapel at Emory University, Miss Mildred Schenck entertained last evening with a miscellaneous shower given at her home in Hapeville. Several unique contents were enjoyed. Miss Schenck was assisted by her mother, Mrs. Emil E. Schenck.

Guests included: Misses Sara McDonald, Abbie McKelvey, Sara Lloyd, Elizabeth Sims, Elaine Sims, Ethel Moore, Tommie Gager, Margaret Hopgood, Emma Dale Bearden, Nell Youngblood, Lillian McCawley, Jessie Anderson, Lola Harris, Jessie Dooley, Roberta Sheridan, Mildred Moon, Mesdames J. A. Bowen Sr., Louise Stubbs, Katherine McAnally, Mammie King, Clydie White, Mary Dunn, Evelyn Steele, Mrs. Audrey Harrell.

LIEUTENANT AND MRS. HERBERT A. WILSON.

Lieutenant and Mrs. Wilson's marriage was an event of last Saturday evening, taking place at the Hapeville Baptist church. The bride is the former Miss Molly Puckett, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Haskell P. Puckett, of Forest Park. Lieutenant Wilson is stationed at Camp Rucker, Ala.

Miss Taylor To Wed Vallen P. Tucker On December 7

Enlisting the cordial interest of a host of friends is the announcement made today of the engagement of Miss Mary Frank Taylor to Vallen P. Tucker, of Decatur and Dayton, Ohio, the marriage to be solemnized Monday, December 7, at the Oakhurst Baptist church with Rev. A. B. Couch officiating. The date marks the sixty-first wedding anniversary of the bride-elect's paternal grandmother, Mrs. Sara McMahan Taylor, and the late Frank J. Taylor, the former making her home with Miss Taylor's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Frank F. Taylor.

The bride-elect is the elder daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Taylor and her sister is Miss Jacquelyn Taylor. She is a graduate of Decatur Girls' High school, where she was prominent in school affairs and a member of the National Honor Society. At present she is associated in business with Southern Bell Telephone & Telegraph Company. Her mother is the former Miss Mary Eliza Matthews, daughter of Judge and Mrs. Henry J. Matthews Sr., members of a pioneer DeKalb county family.

The groom-elect was graduated from Decatur Boys' High school, and later attended Georgia School of Technology. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. James Thomas Tucker. His paternal grandparents are the late Elder A. F. Tucker and Mrs. Josephine Sellers Tucker, of Moultrie, and his maternal grandparents are the late Mr. and Mrs. J. T. Knowles, of Sparta. His sisters are Misses Maelynn and Doris Tucker, and his only brother is James Thomas Tucker Jr., of Barboursville, Ohio.

Mr. Tucker was connected with the Southern Bell Telephone & Telegraph Company in the engineering department prior to entering the War Department as a radio engineer in the Signal Corps Procurement District of the Air Corps. He is stationed in Dayton, Ohio, where the young couple will make their home.

Chicken Dinner.—Haverville Chapter O. E. S. No. 179, will sponsor the annual chicken dinner next Saturday from 11 until 8 o'clock at the Haverville city auditorium. Mrs. R. M. Brandon is chairman of arrangements. Tickets may be obtained from Mrs. Neva Settle, Mrs. Ruth Norton, or from other members of the chapter.

Mission Study Today.—Confederate Avenue Baptist church will hold an all-day mission study this morning at 11 o'clock at the church.

Private Jones—Mrs. L. W. Lancaster, Y. W. A. Association leader, and Mrs. W. B. Williamson Jr., third district secretary, will review the book, "If Two Agree." Luncheon will be served.

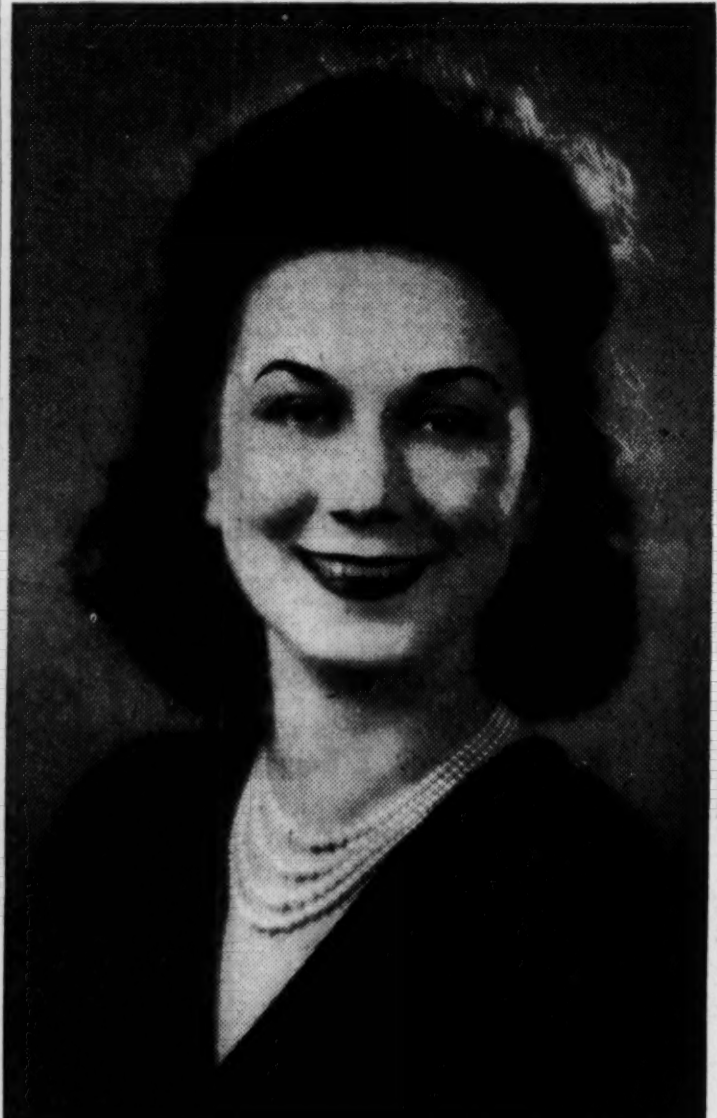

Special notice ABOUT COLDS—Now when colds strike, relieve misery with home-proved Vicks VapoRub that ACTS 2 WAYS AT ONCE.

It penetrates to upper bronchial tubes with soothing medicinal vapors. It stimulates chest and back surfaces like a warming poultice. And what's more, it keeps right on working for hours—even while you sleep!

Just rub throat, chest and back with good old Vicks VapoRub at bedtime. VapoRub goes to work instantly to relieve coughing spasms, ease muscular soreness or tightness. It invites restful, comforting sleep. And often by morning, most of the misery is gone. Try VapoRub's special 2-way action tonight! When a cold strikes, be sure you use time-tested Vicks VapoRub.

Turkey day dinner calls for WINE—This year serve wine with the turkey. For turkey reaches perfection when served with glasses of California's full-bodied red burgundy wine. White wines, like Sauternes or Rhine wine, are good with turkey, too. So why not get a bottle each of good red and good white table wine today. Wine Advisory Board, San Francisco.

MRS. JULIAN FRANCIS KINNETT.

DeShong-Kinnett Wedding Solemnized on April 17

Enlisting the interest of a wide circle of friends is the announcement made today of the marriage of Miss Almariza Elizabeth DeShong, of Decatur and Stone Mountain, to Julian Francis Kinnett, United States Navy, formerly of Stone Mountain. The marriage was solemnized on April 17 at Conyers, Ga.

Mrs. Kinnett is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Carl Inzer DeShong, prominent citizens of Stone Mountain. She is a graduate of Girls' High school at Decatur and later attended Columbia University at New York city and Georgia State College for Women at Milledgeville, Ga., where she received her B. S. degree. She did post-graduate work at Emory University. At the present, Mrs. Kinnett is a member of the faculty of the W. D. Thomson school in the Druid Hills system of the DeKalb county schools. She is a sister of Miss Irene DeShong, Mrs. William Haynie and Louis DeShong, of Stone Mountain.

Mr. Kinnett is the son of Mr. and Mrs. J. Harvey Kinnett, of Stone Mountain. He was graduated from the Norcross High school and Draughton School of Commerce in Atlanta. Before entering the U. S. Navy, Mr. Kinnett was employed at the Quartermaster Depot at Conley, Ga. At the present he is serving with the U. S. Navy overseas. He is the brother of Mrs. Randolph Mellock, of Stone Mountain; Parks Kinnett, of Memphis, Tenn.; and Harry Kinnett, of Sao Paulo, Brazil.

Society Events—THURSDAY, NOVEMBER 19. The marriage of Miss Roline Adair and Lieutenant Alexander Graham Little Jr., Medical Corps, Army of United States, takes place at 8 o'clock at the Second-Ponce de Leon Baptist church, to be followed by a reception at the Piedmont Driving Club.

Phi Pi Freshmen Will Give Dance at Biltmore Saturday

Of paramount importance to members of the college set is the formal dance to be given by the Phi Pi sorority freshmen on Saturday evening, the dance to be held at the Biltmore Hotel from 9 to 12 o'clock.

The sorority officers and their dates include Miss Anne DuPre, president, with Allen Tochar; Miss Clara Jones, vice president, with A. B. Martin; Miss Mary Humphries, treasurer, with Brown Reeves; Miss Anne Burckhardt, sergeant-at-arms, with Charlie Milwain, and Miss Myrnelie Grove, chaplain, with Bill Thomas. Chaperons for the dance will be Mr. and Mrs. Walter DuPre, Mrs. Robert T. Jones Jr., Mr. and Mrs. A. F. Akers, and Mr. and Mrs. H. D. Humphries.

Child Welfare Group Hears Director of National League

Mrs. John Rutland, president, presided at a recent meeting of the board of directors of the Child Welfare Association held at 779 Juniper street, headquarters of the organization.

Howard Hopkirk, executive director of the Child Welfare League of America, made a most interesting talk on the problems brought by war to child-caring agencies. He stressed problems in communities where war industries are employing many women. Mr. Hopkirk praised the work of the Child Welfare Association of Fulton and DeKalb counties, and its standing in the national organization. He also paid special tribute to Miss Florence van Sicker, executive secretary of the association, for her outstanding work in this agency. Miss Van Sicker was selected by the Child Welfare League to be special field representative over a period of several months.

The board of directors of the Child Welfare Association take great pride in Miss Van Sicker's appointment as regional chairman of the Child Welfare League Conference now being held in Savannah, where she will preside. Others attending this conference are representatives of the Child Welfare Association are Mrs. John Rutland and Mrs. Frank H. Neely, board members; Miss Mildred Spiller and Miss Elsie Tucker, staff members.

Miss Evans Weds Lt. Joseph Martin—Of wide interest is the announcement made today by Mr. and Mrs. Ira C. Evans of the marriage of their daughter, Miss Mae Carolyn Evans, to Lieutenant Joseph E. Martin, son of Mr. and Mrs. E. L. Martin, of Lebanon, Tenn.

The ceremony was recently solemnized at noon by Dr. Herman L. Turner in the parlor of the Covenant Presbyterian church in the presence of the families and a few close friends.

The bride entered with her father, who gave her in marriage. She wore a model of soft green crepe with brown accessories. Her flowers were a spray of roses and sweetwills.

Ross Parks, of Davidson College, N. C., was the bridegroom's best man.

Mrs. Martin was educated in the Atlanta schools, in Lebanon, Tenn., and by private tutors. Her only sister is Miss Anne Henderson Evans. Lieutenant Martin is a graduate of Castle Heights Military Academy and attended Davidson College in North Carolina, where he served as president of Pi Kappa Alpha fraternity. He is stationed at Fort McClellan, Ala., and the bride couple resides at 905 Highland avenue, Anniston, Ala.

'National Night' Is Celebrated—Two hundred guests attended the Zeta Beta Chi sorority "National Night" celebration held at the Dixie ballroom of the Henry Grady hotel recently. The highlight of the occasion was a talk by Dr. Raymond B. Nixon, head of the department of journalism, Emory University, whose subject was "Henry Grady, the Civic Builder."

Rossie Gilmore and Ruth Lovren presented the "Oriental Dance of Greeting," and Martha Ware sang. Miss Helen Knox Spain, program director of the sorority, was mistress of ceremonies, and the presidents of the Atlanta chapters, Miss Myra Reeves, Zeta; Miss Jessie Cowan, Alpha; Miss Sally Evans, Gamma, and Miss Carolyn Suddeth, City Council, assisted in entertaining. A color motif of green and gold was used in the refreshments and decorations.

This affair was the first of a series of programs which have been arranged by the sorority in observance of National Month.

Rainbow Girls Meet.—Miss Katherine Steplun, worthy advisor of Atlanta Assembly No. 5, Order of Rainbow for Girls, announces that work in the degrees will be exemplified at the meeting Saturday evening at 7:30 o'clock when the following candidates will be initiated into the order: Misses Sara Beall, Betty Lou Ryder, Doris Wiley, Catherine Crew and Geraldine Gowder.

Plans will be completed at this meeting for Thanksgiving and Christmas activities. The assembly meets at Greenfield lodge hall, Little Five Points, with Mrs. Gladys Weir Scruggs as leader of the girls.

Rehearsal Supper Is Given For Miss Adair and Lt. Little—Miss Roline Adair and Lieutenant Alexander G. Little Jr., whose marriage will be an important social event of this evening, were honored last evening at the final party in the series given in their honor.

Hosts were the groom-elect's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Alexander G. Little, of Valdosta, who entertained at a buffet supper at the Piedmont Driving Club. The affair followed the wedding rehearsal at the Second-Ponce de Leon Baptist Church and assembled only the members of the wedding party and the two families.

Supper was served in a private dining room of the club, the buffet tables being adorned with quantities of white chrysanthemums, tuberoses and white gladioli, arranged in silver containers. Mr. and Mrs. A. D. Adair, parents of the bride-elect, assisted in entertaining.

Mrs. George Archer, of Macon, the former Miss Ethel Erwin, of this city, was hostess at a buffet luncheon yesterday at the home of her mother, Mrs. E. A. Erwin, on Peachtree road, for Miss Adair.

The home was beautified with quantities of fall flowers in the autumn shades. The hostess was assisted in entertaining by her mother, Mrs. Erwin; Mrs. A. D. Adair, mother of the bride-elect; Mrs. John S. Clarke, the bride-elect's grandmother, and Mrs. Alexander G. Little, of Valdosta, the groom-elect's mother.

Life of Visitor From England Fraught With Color, Danger

By KATHRYN BARNWELL.

The life of Mrs. G. M. Handscomb, who arrived here Saturday from Laguna Beach, Cal., is as colorful as a best-selling novel. During the past several years the charming Britisher has lived all over China, sailed aboard an evacuee ship carrying 1,300 women and children from Shanghai to Hongkong, and traveled extensively in the United States and Canada.

Mrs. Handscomb, whose given name is Marjorie, is the niece of her hosts, Mr. and Mrs. Cyril Smith, and she is ensconced at the Smith home, "Conwold," on Roxboro road, while awaiting passage back to her native England—which she has not seen for six years.

The attractive visitor is doubly excited about her forthcoming trip, because she has received word that her husband, who has been interned by the Japs since "Pearl Harbor," has been released. According to news received from her mother, Mrs. J. E. Boyle, of Hampshire, England, Mr. Handscomb is being returned to England on a repatriation ship. He was taken into custody in Mukden, Manchukuo, where he was in the employ of the British-American Tobacco Company, and has been imprisoned in one room—with only the floor to sleep on—since last December 7.

Pre-War China.—Before the outbreak of hostilities between China and Japan, the Handscombs lived for several years in China, residing in the cities of Hongkong, Shanghai, Nanking, Wuhu, Harbin, Mukden and Tsingtau. Mrs. Handscomb says of the Chinese that they have a "great sense of humor," and she believes that the "trustworthiness" of the race is one of its outstanding characteristics. Chinese cooks are extremely skilled, according to the visitor. Sweet pork is one of the country's favorite dishes, this consisting of tiny ribs of the meat covered with a tasty sauce.

Members of the American and British colonies living in China before the war enjoyed frequent gatherings at clubs, and bridge was one of their pastimes. Mrs. Handscomb is a devotee of golf, and played both golf and tennis at the clubs in China. She reveals that some of the gallant nation's tennis courts were of grass, while many were of mud. "The Chinese, she says, 'are agile tennis players.'"

When hostilities flamed between Japan and China in 1937, the pretty British matron was evacuated from Shanghai, where she and Mr. Handscomb were living, sailing to Hongkong aboard a rescue ship crowded with women and children. She recalls that a typhoon was brewing when she arrived in Hongkong, and that officials hoisted a special typhoon flag to warn the populace of the storm's imminence. A cannon was fired when the typhoon reached the city.

Mrs. Handscomb came to America two years ago. During her stay in this country, she has visited friends on the west coast and in Canada. Shortly after Christmas last year she learned that her husband, who had remained in Mukden with his business firm, had been interned by the Japanese. She has not had even one letter from him since he was taken into custody.

Mrs. Handscomb is both pretty and stylish in appearance. Her dancing eyes are quite green, and her smile is enhanced by beautiful teeth. Her complexion is ruddy, and her clipped accent is fascinating to hear. She confesses a liking for symphonic music, art, and the ballet.

Many informal social affairs will compliment the pretty visitor during her stay in Atlanta, this marking her very first visit to this city.

MR. AND MRS. GEORGE M. EDWARDS.

50th Wedding Anniversary Celebrated at Open House

Mr. and Mrs. George M. Edwards celebrated their golden wedding anniversary last Sunday afternoon at an open house held at their home on Brownwood avenue. The date also marked Mr. Edwards' seventy-third birthday anniversary.

Receiving with the hosts were their children, Mrs. W. H. Thompson, Mrs. Lucy Latham, George Edwards Jr. and Mrs. Gray Burges.

Assisting in entertaining were Mesdames Zera Davenport, R. E. Guillebeau, Dorothy Lomax and Misses Luttrell Wheeler, Kate Harrington, Barbara Guillebeau, Bobbie Thomason, Carolyn Latham, Barbara and Janice Edwards.

The tea table was covered with a lace cloth posed over gold satin and centered with a tiered wedding cake topped with a miniature bride and groom. Crystal candlesticks held lighted white tapers. Gold chrysanthemums and palms decorated the reception rooms.

During the afternoon 150 friends called to felicitate the couple. Among out-of-town guests present were Mrs. Mollie Gunter, Mr. and Mrs. James Gunter Jr., Mr. and Mrs. Hubert Deaton, Mr. and Mrs. Harold Pilgrim, J. W. Allen, all of Gainesville; Rev. and Mrs. H. L. Smith, of Jonesboro; Mr. and Mrs. W. J. Stovall, Mr. and Mrs. Fred Stovall, of Nacoochee; Mr. and Mrs. Marvin Allison, of Lawrenceville; Mr. and Mrs. O. H. Wheeler, of Knoxville, Tenn.; Mr. and Mrs. C. H. Edwards, of Cleveland; Mr. and Mrs. Tom Henson, Mrs. Richard Pope, of Rome, and Mr. and Mrs. Gray Burges, of Charlotte, N. C.

Absent were the hosts' two grandsons, W. H. Thomason, who is serving in the air forces, and Jack Thomason, who is in the Navy.

Thomas-Lang Wedding Plans.

Of interest are the wedding plans of Miss Lucy Anne Thomas who will wed Thomas Lindsay Lang on Thanksgiving Day. The wedding will take place at 4:30 o'clock in the Hapeville Methodist church. Rev. L. B. Jones, pastor of the church, will perform the ceremony.

A musical program will be presented by Mrs. D. C. Starnes, organist, and Barclay Jackson, soloist. The bride-elect will be given in marriage by her uncle, George H. A. Thomas. Her attendants will be her cousin, Miss Margaret Baker, maid of honor; her sister, Miss Mary Thomas, and cousin, Miss Wenonah Thomas, as bridesmaids. Jimmie Allen Lang will be his brother's best man.

Ushers will be Owens Thomas, Allan Chapman, Forrest Shell and Bernice Moore.

Following the wedding an informal reception will be held at the home of the bride's mother, Mrs. Newton S. Thomas, on Whitney avenue, Hapeville.

How To Count Your Daily Vitamins

By Ida Jean Kain

You know a lot more about nutrition than you did a year, or so ago. You know all vitamins, and you know something about minerals and protein and carbohydrates. But how much of what you know are you using? Are you going right along with your same old ways of eating?

We must put this nutrition knowledge to work to win the war! This applies not only to the housewife, but to the working girl, whether she eats in a restaurant or cooks at home. It applies to the working man, whether he carries his lunch, orders it from a counter or eats in a restaurant, or travels on the road. It means everybody.

Get the essentials first, for they are the ones that give more power. Have the three meals furnish the complete list of protective foods—that's the way to put nutrition to work. You need at least two fresh fruits a day. All right, get them somewhere in your three meals. You should have three vegetables, one a green leafy, the others can be any vegetable you like, and potatoes or some other starchy vegetable. For good nutrition you need an egg a day, or four a week. You can have your egg at breakfast or at lunch or dinner, it doesn't matter, just so you get it. You should have somewhere in your three meals have four to six slices of whole grain or enriched bread and butter. The amount of bread you need depends on whether you are trying to gain weight or hoping to lose. But everybody needs some bread; the reducer should have four slices, the normal weight six slices and the thin person at least six slices.

How much milk do you actually get every day? Milk or cheese daily is essential to good nutrition. The thin girl needs at least three glasses, a full quart a day is better; the normal weight must have a pint; and the reducer needs a pint. If you are trying to keep your calories down, take butter-milk or skim milk and make up for the lost vitamin A with a green leafy salad or a cooked green leafy vegetable. But if you delete the vitamin A in butter fats and leave off the greens, you are more likely to catch a cold. Have a green vegetable every day.

The day's menu should include a serving of lean meat, fish or fowl. Don't get the idea that you cannot live up to the rules of good nutrition with meat rationed. By having fish or fowl in addition to the meat ration, you get ample protein for your needs. In the past a good many of you ate too much meat and not enough of the other protective foods.

Nagging Over Money Is Sure To Strain Marital Happiness

By Dixie George

Dear Dixie:

Please advise me what to do, as I am nearly crazy from worry and overwork, etc. I work in my husband's place of business all day, and do all my cooking at home, and I would not mind this work so badly if things were pleasant, but they never are, my husband has a nagging disposition, and when he isn't using profane language to me, he is either nagging or putting about something, until at times I don't see how I can stand it longer. I have loaned him money for this business, as well as given my services practically gratis for about 10 years. I have started to leave him several times, and he always promises to do better, and never does, and now I know he never will, so I just wonder if I can put up with this treatment another 10 or 20 years. He is also very close with me about household expenses, and everything else, and nags about all expenses. If I could only be away from him in the daytime, I might be able to put up with him at night, but there seems to be no way out for me—except death—that is surely a futile feeling to have.

XYZ: Why stay and worry yourself to death under these conditions? In the first place, when you loaned him the money it should have been done legally and in a businesslike manner even though you were dealing with your husband. It's a funny thing but when money rears its ugly head, relatives as well as one's best friends change. If you give him money for the business you were, or should have been a partner and should have shared with him some of the profits. I'm afraid it's too late now for after 10 years of working gratis and taking what you have, you haven't a chance of having better treatment as you seem to realize. The only solution I can see is that you walk out now while you still have the sense to know what's good for you. Why stay and work yourself to death when there is no need for it, and when you could be working and making yourself some money.

I should think that you would see that he is not going to change and that he is taking you too much for granted. Better leave now and get away from it all, or death will really catch up with you, as you seem to think. Let him nag all he wants to about expenses, but by all means remind him that perhaps if he wouldn't be so close with his money that there would not be so much worry about household expenses. You certainly are lowering your dignity by letting this man make such a servant out of you and keeping you under his thumb. If you don't get out of it all now, you never will and the sooner the better.

Former Rose Bowl Queen Gets a Cinderella Break

HOLLYWOOD, Nov. 18.—(INS)

Sol Lesser just waved a wand that would make the original godmother in "Cinderella" look like an amateur when he handed the top femme role in "Stage Door Canteen" to Cheryl Walker. You may or may not remember Cheryl as the girl who rated a lot of publicity when she was chosen Rose Bowl queen of 1938. And then

By Louella Q. Parsons

her career took as pretty a nose-dive as I can remember. From time to time, I heard that Cheryl was working as a stand-in for Veronica Lake and accepting stunt girl jobs. But things were certainly far from rosy for the Rose Bowl queen, financially. Cheryl is so happy she was crying when she called to tell me about her break. I must say it is something for a former stand-in to top stage stars of the caliber of Gertrude Lawrence and other ardent canteen workers who will play bits in the movie. Sol, himself, got on the phone to tell me Cheryl had won out after 600 actresses had been considered, and Director Frank Borzage says Cheryl has the same "heart appeal" that made Janet Gaynor a star.

Monty Woolley and Gracie Field should make a team in anybody's movie. And that is exactly what 20th Century-Fox thinks in bringing Gracie out from New York to test for "Buried Alive," the next picture on tap for the pink-bearded actor.

Gracie would get the role of the shrewish wife in Arnold Bennett's classic story about the man who feared his frau so much he assumed the identity of his dead brother. Before I left Hollywood both Universal and M-G-M were angling for Gracie, who hasn't made a movie since 1939. There was a time when the English comedienne was stung to the quick by criticism about leaving her native country in war time. But since then she has raised terrific amounts on bond tours through the United States and Canada, which should stop all sniping.

MY DAY: End of Trip To Great Britain

By Eleanor Roosevelt

LONDON, England, Tuesday.—On Sunday morning church bells all over Great Britain pealed to celebrate the victory in Africa and also to remind all God-fearing people of their duty to give thanks to Him whose power is greater than that of mere human beings. I had some guests for early breakfast and one or two callers before and after the church hour.

I want to thank again the many people whose thought and planning made it possible for me to see so much in such a short time. Our own people in the embassy, army, navy and the air force have given me every possible co-operation. Without their thoughtfulness and careful arranging of the many trips, it would have been impossible to accomplish the things I did.

I was particularly glad to receive a letter from young Colonel Raff of the paratroops, which must have been written just after our visit, and just before they took off to play their exciting part in the African campaign.

Admiral Stark, General Eisenhower, General Hartle and their fellow officers must have sometimes wished that the lady with the code name did not need so much attention, but no one from top to bottom ever gave me this feeling. Kindness, consideration and good will seemed to be present everywhere.

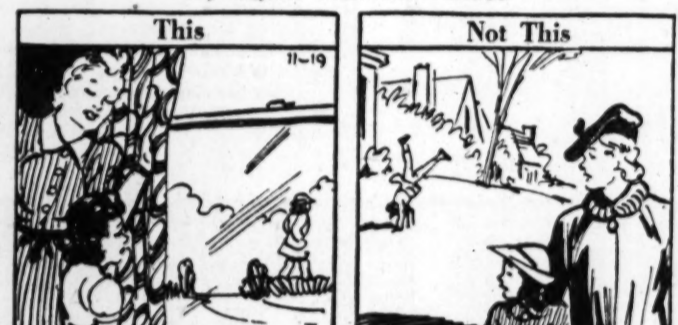

On the other hand, there are many things which we shall need to do which have not been necessary in Great Britain. I have seen much which I hope may be of value now and which I feel sure will give us some inspiration for the future. If it were only the spirit of the people of this country, which one feels everywhere here, I should feel grateful for having experienced it. There is something contagious about an enthusiasm which makes you work ten hours a day uncomplainingly, which carries you through three winters of blackout, which makes light of the losses brought about through bombing, and which still has the enthusiasm left to welcome new allies. In every American Red Cross canteen in England, Scotland and Ireland there is never any lack of local volunteers to help behind the counter in the cafeterias, at the reception desk in the library, anywhere where they can be useful.

I found a group in a Red Cross center the other day mending soldiers' socks, sewing chevrons to their coats, and doing other little odd jobs which one would ordinarily have done at home. This interest carries over to the merchant marine men as well. One of the volunteers in their club was reading aloud to cheer up a boy whose ankle was broken when he was blown from a skylight and landed on the deck of the ship.

I think that my faith in the goodness and strength of human beings has been greatly enhanced, and that is something for which I am deeply grateful.

Iodine in Diet May Restore Pep

By Dr. William Brady

Adults may not show goitre as a manifestation of iodine shortage, but instead a chronic tired feeling and lack of usual or former ambition, energy or pep, with little refreshment from rest or vacation, a tendency toward accumulation of flabby excess weight, depression of spirits or melancholy, premature aging, and graying and falling of the hair, poor circulation (cold hands and feet), mental torpor.

I was dictator of America I'd make every man, woman and child in the country take a nip of iodine at least once a week.

Now that scientific research and animal experiment have at least strengthened the assumption that one or more of the factors or causes of the natural vitamin B-complex is or are in fact the "anti-gray-hair factor," I am no longer loath to believe what readers of this column have been reporting to me for many years, namely, that within several months after beginning to take a regular Iodine Ration (for instructions send stamped envelope bearing your address) their gray or graying hair has regained more or less of its original natural color. Heretofore when referring to this manifestation of rejuvenation or when printing such a report from a correspondent I have expressed skepticism. I have ascribed the phenomenon to the higher spirits and more optimistic outlook which the iodine ration brings, so that the individual viewing his or her graying hair counts rather the hairs that have more or less of the pristine color and does not dwell sadly on the hairs that have turned gray. Yet all the while I have wondered how come so many of these people cultivating vite get so keyed up that they go to the trouble of writing to tell me the color has been restored to their gray hair. Well, now I am constrained to believe there may be a good deal in it.

Dick McPhee Unable To Play Against Tigers

Injury Still Hampers Bulldog Back; Keuper Question Mark.

By F. M. WILLIAMS.
ATHENS, Ga., Nov. 18.—That so-called "dream backfield" Georgia was due to show against Auburn in Columbus Saturday, is not likely to materialize, Coach Wallace Butts announced after a long defensive scrimmage today.

Dick McPhee, the fullback who ran few plays at blocking back this week, is likely to watch the Tigers and Bulldogs battle it out from the bench, because his knee injury will prevent him from playing. There had been hope that McPhee could play after he participated in Tuesday's drill for a little while, but it vanished today when he was unable to go at full speed. Coach Butts said there was no hope that he would play.

TO USE MCGUIRE.
The Bulldogs must rely almost entirely on Walter McGuire, a great defensive man and a better-than-average blocking back. Red Keuper is still a question mark, but he looked more able to play today than did McPhee.

Coach Butts was discouraged over the play of his squad in scrimmage. The freshmen, operating almost entirely from the "T," found gaping holes in the varsity line on a number of occasions.

The Georgia coach said he would work very lightly tomorrow before departing for the battle.

FEARS AUBURN.
He paid tribute to the Auburn club.

"They're going to gain ground on us and I'm afraid they're going to gain plenty," he said. "They have the best offense we have run up against, I believe."

Butts said George Poschner and Van Davis would open at ends, Gene Allenson and Red Boyd at tackles, Walter Runk and J. P. Miller at guards and Bill Godwin at center. In the backfield, Charley Trippi will be at tailback, Captain Frank Sinkwich at fullback, McGuire at blocking back and Lamar Davis at wingback.

Cotton Bowl Eyes Bulldogs, Jackets

DALLAS, Nov. 18.—(P)—Georgia Tech, Alabama, Tennessee and Missouri are considered the most likely to receive bids from the Cotton Bowl as plans go forward for staging the Dallas gridiron classic January 1.

The game will pit the Southwest Conference champion against an opponent to be selected—and indications are the bowl officials are leaning definitely toward the southeast and Big Six.

The Athens, Ga., Naval Pre-Flight school, which abounds in former Texas coaches and football players, was also injected as a possible choice of the Cotton Bowl Athletic Association to play the Southwest Conference champion.

At the Pre-Flight school, which lost only to Louisiana State this season, Matty Bell, former Southern Methodist coach, is athletic director, and Raymond (Bear) Wolf, formerly of the Texas Christian University staff, is head coach.

Luttrell, Mate Claim Honors As Best Team

It's lucky for some people that it doesn't cost anything to claim everything. Toyko claims the United States fleet has been destroyed again; Boston College claims the national title in football; and now Cowboy Luttrell and Angelo Cistoldi are laying claim to the world's championship as the No. 1 wrestling team in the universe. Without cracking a smile.

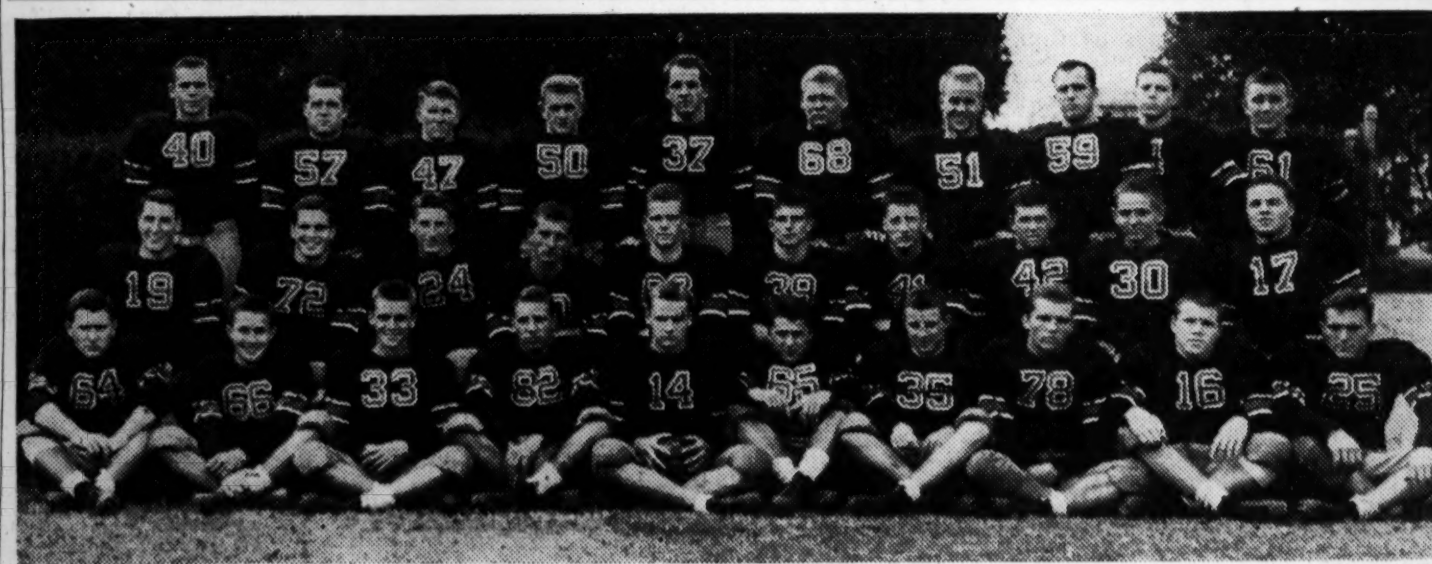

Perhaps the claim of the two he-man wrestlers is more justified than that of the others, at that. At least there are some grounds for suspecting that the Cowboy and the Italian are capable of doing a mighty effective job—as a team.

The Cowboy does the talking for his side. "Me and Angelo ain't never been whipped," he says. "We have had scores of matches together and ain't never been downed. So we have decided to claim the world's championship. We have been waiting for the public to claim it for us, but we have grown impatient."

Luttrell and Cistoldi have an interesting date with Dorv Roche and Babe Zaharias in one of these wild team affairs Friday night at the auditorium. Roche asked for another partner after his mate-in-last week's contest, Ralph Gribaldi, injured himself and left Dorv to carry on alone. Roche thinks the Greek will be a valuable aide to him.

Mr. X, who knows every mat hold from A to Z, will tangle with Ben Morgan in a very promising semi-final. There also will be an opening match.

By JACK TROY

Not Without Purpose
There was a closing paragraph in Frank Alexander's letter that is difficult to dismiss from what is playfully called mind. Frank, writing about ratings in football, expressed the belief that Williamson is fairer than a lot of others. At least, that he has been more nearly correct.

And then Alexander closed with this paragraph: "Jack, maybe we are too selfish or self-satisfied down here in the south. You know that is a bad frame of mind to get in right now—particularly when we all have to work together to win this war. So far as I am concerned, I am willing to accept the fact that here in Georgia we have the No. 1 and 3 football teams in the nation. That is really more than we deserve to have. Maybe we ought to split up this monopoly and send some of these boys to play elsewhere. At any rate, they shall all be playing for Uncle Sam for keeps next year, and it would not surprise me to see a Tech man taking the ball from a 'Yankee.' Humbly yours, Frank H. Alexander."

Many weeks ago we set out to have a little fun. And so we tossed out an opinion that the 12 teams of the Southeastern Conference, playing the top 12 of any other section, would win their share of games.

Soon representatives from the middle west took it up and offered hot arguments in rebuttal. There was no thought, in the beginning, of creating rancor or hatred, and, of course, there is none now.

The argument over the superiority of sections in football has served one good purpose, at least. It has offered a lot of diversion for midwestern and eastern soldiers, paratroopers and others, in off hours. And if they meet our Axis enemies in the same frame of mind as they were when they penned letters to this department, there can be no doubt of the results. The Axis won't have a snowball's chance in Hades.

They're Off! We'll lead off with a letter signed by a group of soldiers at Fort Benning. They were ready, upon completion of the letter, to storm Hitler's retreat at Berchtesgaden.

"Dear Mr. Troy:
"You are without a doubt the most egotistical, self-centered, narrow-minded, self-opinionated (revolving) football expert whose column it has been our misfortune to read. Having been hospitalized for the past two months, we have been reading your column with growing resentment as the days go by.

"With the full knowledge that it is impossible to reason with a fanatic, we ask you to put your money where your mouth is. Here is our offer to you: Ask the opinion of 50 leading sports writers in the country from Pacific coast, south, southeast, midwest and east to ascertain which conference consistently turns out the best football teams, year in and year out. We will wager one month's pay ($104.00) that the Big Ten is chosen over S. E. C. How about it, Mr. Troy?"

"So Minnesota loses a few games this year and you gloat over it; we might ask you which individual team has had the most consistent aggregation for the past number of years. It certainly has not been Georgia or Georgia Tech, Mr. Troy!"

"We hasten to add that we do not constitute a body from the middle west, but instead are from all sections of the country. As an afterthought, however, our west coast representative brings forth the added question regarding the status of the Southeast Conference in connection with Rose Bowl statistics.

"Yours for more senseless columns, apparently conjured up from the dire necessity of emitting favorable quotations required by the southern 'emitting' individualistic subscribers to an otherwise reasonably accurate 'news sheet.'"

Sincerely,

"Sgt. John B. Kalbin, Nebraska; Pvt. John Senior, California; Pvt. Carl Force, 1st Paratroop Regt., Washington; Pvt. Robert Mantor, 1st Paratroop Regt., Louisiana; Pvt. Richard Wendel, New York; Pvt. Charles Ketchan, 1st Paratroop Regt., Florida; Pvt. Ward French, Butte, Mont.; Pvt. Richard French, Salina, Kan.; Sgt. James E. McCullough, Kansas City, Mo.; Sgt. Jerry Turner, New York city; Sgt. Roger J. Sieg, Connecticut; John Huskey, North Carolina; William H. Logan, Minnesota; William C. Herrick, Massachusetts, and James Farkas, Ohio."

A Cheer for Boston Also from Benning is a letter by Sergeant Ralph Cianci. He does not mention what section he's from, but the tone of his letter conveys the information.

Sergeant Cianci writes:

"Dear Mr. Troy:
"If you believe that Boston College's schedule does not warrant a bowl bid, as you have stated in Monday's Constitution, then you must also believe, if you write without prejudice, that Georgia is a very much overrated team. I admit that Boston College's schedule this year is not a match for schedules of Michigan, Ohio State, Notre Dame or Minnesota, but I know that it stands on at least a par with that of Georgia. Let's take a look at Georgia's tough games:

"Jacksonville Naval, Furman, Ole Mississippi, Tulane, Cincinnati, Florida, Chattanooga.

"It's a schedule, all right. That's about all. I'm not trying to bring up the issue of comparing eastern football with southern football. I'm only interested in bringing to your attention the fact that Boston College is deserving of a bowl bid if you believe that Georgia is worthy of one.

"Also, in your column of approximately two weeks ago, you stated that the announcer of the 'Bama-Georgia game (which announcer may or may not be a friend of yours) was, in your estimation, as good as the best, viz: Stern, Red Barber, McNamee, etc. You are entitled to your opinion, Mr. Troy, poor though it may be. Have you ever listened to the above-mentioned announcers?"

"I didn't intend for this letter to be personal, and it's really

Georgia's 444 Yards Per Game Tops Nation

Ohio State, Tulsa and Boston College Ahead of Average Set by Colorado in 1937.

By DAVE HOFF.
CHICAGO, Nov. 18.—(P)—Another of the American Football Statistical Bureau's prize modern records is headed for the ash can—threatened not by one team but by four.

It's the total offense all time high of 375.4 yards per game set in 1937 by Colorado when Byron (Whizzer) White was at his peak. And here in mid-November four of the nation's gridiron teams are rolling along at better than 400 yards a game.

Riding high in this stratospheric 400 plus region, where normally no team remains past its fourth or fifth game, are Georgia, at 444.4 yards a contest, Ohio State at 420.3, Tulsa at 414.9 and Boston College at 404.6.

NORMAL START.
"It's really unbelievable," said Homer Cooke, head man of the statistical bureau. "The season started off normally as far as team offenses were concerned. We had six teams in the 400 plus bracket the first week, and the second week there were only three teams. It looked like the usual tapering off process had begun.

"However the next two weeks four teams were over the 400 mark. Then two weeks ago the list dwindled to two and I was sure they'd drop to normal, with the best team lucky to finish the season averaging better than 370 yards a game.

"Now we have four up there over 400."
Georgia's mighty undefeated eleven has amassed 3,999 yards in its nine games, 2,305 by rushing and 1,694 by passing. But on game averages the Bulldogs from the Southeastern Conference rate only sixth in rushing and second in passing.

The ground-gaining leadership still rests with Texas' little Hard-

13-Point Buck Tops Big Kill In N. Georgia

D. H. Dowell Bags 250-Pounder; 21 More Shot on First Day.

DAHLONEGA, Ga., Nov. 18.—(P)—Georgia hunters brought down 22 deer on the first day of the Chattahoochee National Forest Game Hunt, including one 13-point buck described by old timers as the "grandpappy" of all deer in this section.

The first day's bag equalled the number killed on the entire six-day firearms hunt last fall.

D. H. Dowell, of Nisky Lake, returned to camp with the 13-point buck which weighed 250 pounds. Officials of the State Wildlife Division and the U. S. Forest Service, sponsors of the event, said it was the greatest buck, from antler standpoint, ever bagged in a forest hunt in Georgia.

One eight-point deer, dressed, tipped the scales at 200 pounds. H. D. Abernathy, of Gainesville, accounted for that kill.

Dowell made his kill a quarter mile south of Rock Creek Lake, favorite hangout with trout fishermen. His partner, Dr. A. A. Greene, of Atlanta, made the first kill, an eight-point, 150-pounder.

Other hunters who have accounted for kills are:

Lee Anderson, Dahlonega, 10 points, 150 pounds; Captain Frank Haupt, Atlanta, four points, 120 pounds; J. D. Mullins, Ellijay, eight points, 145 pounds; C. H. Kiker Jr., Ellijay, ten points, 170 pounds; W. W. Hannah, Camp Toccoa, seven points, 150 pounds; C. H. Whitehead, Atlanta, one point, 125 pounds; W. H. Leonard, Blakelyville, four points, 175 pounds; J. A. Gobel, four points, 150 pounds; W. L. Brakfield, Atlanta, six points, 175 pounds; Perry Shook, Clarksville, one point, 120 pounds; Pat Kelly, Atlanta, eight points, 190 pounds; Roy Gust, eight points, 175 pounds; J. E. West Fulton '11' Ends Year Tonight

Coach Vic Hansard's West Fulton Owls will close their football season tonight when they clash with Spalding High at Griffin. The contest is scheduled for 8 o'clock.

The Owls, who started the season with only five lettermen back from last year's fine squad, surprised even their most ardent supporters by winning six of the nine games played thus far.

In Roy Hartsfield and Walt Crawford, Coach Hansard has two of the best backs in the N. G. I. C. Hartsfield is an ace broken field runner and pass receiver, while Crawford excels as a line plunger and line backer-upper.

Mrs. Dimmock, Hubbard Victors

Mrs. A. M. Dimmock and Mrs. Henry Hubbard registered a pair of net 77's yesterday at the Forrest Hills course to tie for top honors in the first division of the Metropolitan Women's Golf Association's fourth annual turkey tournament.

Mrs. W. F. Darby and Mrs. J. B. Berry carded 79's to place second. The second division winner was Mrs. E. B. Cary, with a 77 net. Mrs. J. B. Moran had a 79 for second, while Mrs. W. S. Eakin and Mrs. J. C. Mullins, with an 80 and 81 respectively, placed third and fourth.

Turkeys were given to these eight performers instead of the usual prizes for weekly play.

The best gross score of the day was turned in by Mrs. W. F. Darby, who toured the course in 87.

DOUBLRAB WINS.

BOWIE, Md., Nov. 18.—(P)—Mrs. Tilou Christopher's Doublrab returned today to the sprint distance he likes so well to capture the $4,275 W. P. Burch memorial handicap, feature of the Bowie race program.

Local Firemen To Discontinue Repair of Toys

Department Now Busily Engaged in Civilian, Defense Duties.

Because of the press of war and civilian defense duties, the fire department will not repair Christmas toys this year, it was announced yesterday by M. L. Grubbs, secretary of the International Association of Firefighters, Local No. 134.

Grubbs pointed out that in addition to their normal duties, members of the fire department are taking courses in handling poison gases and incendiary bombs and are engaged in training auxiliary firemen for the local civilian defense organization. Loss of 41 men in the department to the armed services, has necessitated an additional training burden on the older fire fighters who must assist in training the new recruits.

Atlantans already have begun calling the fire department and bringing toys to the fire stations, Grubbs said.

Baptist Church Urged To Fight Social Diseases

State Convention at Macon Asks Return of Prohibition.

MACON, Ga., Nov. 18.—(P)—The Georgia Baptist Convention recommended today that the church begin campaigns for compulsory treatment of persons with venereal diseases and for the return of prohibition.

The Social Service Commission report to the convention in session here had said that to eliminate the growing menace to venereal diseases, it recommended that:

1. All draftees rejected or deferred because of syphilis be required by the government to submit to treatment.
2. That stations be established at central locations throughout the nation, and that infected persons be confined, treated and rehabilitated so far as possible.
3. That every legitimate means of educating the people concerning the menace of social diseases be employed.
4. That the church constrain the people to find in Christ purity and strength of character.

The convention adopted the commission's report.

Appeals Urged.
On prohibition, the committee recommended that the church work for a return of state prohibition, that appeals be continued to the President and congressional representatives urging legislation prohibiting liquor in or around Army camps; that leaders in wet counties of Georgia be asked to circulate petitions for a vote on the liquor question and work for a dry victory; and that ministers and other church leaders emphasize personal sobriety and exalt Christian righteousness.

A special committee was appointed by the convention to investigate state aid for church supported schools.

The controversy arose yesterday during a report of the Christian education committee. During a discussion of the report it was brought out that Norman Park Junior College accepted funds from Colquhoun to help educate high school students. Other colleges, including Mercer University, also Baptist supported, have received government money such as NYA, WPA, etc., it was pointed out.

The committee's report was adopted with elimination of the item on state aid for church supported schools until the special committee makes its report.

Orphans Cared For.
The orphans home maintained by Georgia Baptists in Hapeville cared for 373 children during the past year, the convention was told.

Over 100 of these children represented newcomers to the home during the year. J. L. Fortney, manager of the home, reported the number of new arrivals was due to the fact the home now has 81 boys in the Armed Forces and also had secured positions for a number of older boys and girls.

A gift of $10,000 to the home from Joseph B. Whitehead Foundation was used for improvements, mainly on repair work and alteration work on a new farm.

Contributions of churches to the home totaled $40,638 and the institution had an income of $29,208 in the market value of farm, dairy and poultry produce.

The Georgia Baptist hospital in Atlanta admitted 5,630 patients during the first nine months of the year, including 908 charity patients, W. D. Barker, superintendent, said the value of the charity service, not counting free service by physicians and surgeons, totaled $42,067.

Hospital day gifts of the churches totaled $19,406, an increase of $2,840 over last year.

James W. Merritt, executive secretary of the convention, reported 1,113 churches and 621 pastors were enrolled in the ministerial retirement plan. Fifty-one pastors have already retired under the plan. Contributions to the retirement fund are made by the convention, churches and pastors.

Gloomy Picture.
Painting a gloomy picture of the world, Dr. Robert G. Lee, of Memphis, told the convention today that science, raised to its highest power, has "become the apostle of savagery."

Addressing 800 church leaders attending the second day of the convention, Dr. Lee styled civilization as "a conglomerated huddle of unrelatedness," and added:

"It seems to be undergoing the frightful process of self-burial. Our unregenerated humanity is set in the midst of palaces, art, philosophies, scientific wonders, but remains a bedraggled beggar still while many Christians are frolicsome in realms of pleasure, idleness and luxury."

"Today, monstrous pervers, infesting curbsides, some labor unions, occupying some editorial chairs, working in offices and factories, brazenly turn freedom of speech into serpent's hiss; make civil government a byword, religion a jest, God a fable and translate freedom of worship to mean freedom from worship."

"Christ is the only hope of this war-ridden world. We may have a victory for righteousness through Him."

Douglas Fairbanks Jr. Gets Change of Duty

NEW YORK, Nov. 18.—(P)—Lieutenant Douglas Fairbanks Jr., U. S. Navy, former motion picture star, stopped off in New York today en route to a "change of duty," following several months' service in England.

Accompanying him was his wife, the former Virginia Lee Corbin, of Hot Springs, Va., who is expected to become a mother soon.

Fairbanks was wearing three service ribbons, the yellow with a star for duty before Pearl Harbor, the Navy blue for marksmanship, and the Brazilian Southern Cross.

Louie D. Newton's: Baptist Conventionalities

"He was needed in battle"—an inscription on a Carthaginian hero's tomb—may well be adopted to express the sentiment in every loyal heart today regarding those who are dying yonder on the battlefronts on the world for the cause of freedom," said Dr. Robert G. Lee, of Memphis, in his address yesterday noon at the Georgia Baptist convention in Macon. Dr. Lee went on to adapt the inscription to the cause of the convention in meeting this unprecedented hour of opportunity in serving the Lord—needed in his home, needed in his church, needed in his community—and always at his best."

J. Leonard Reinsch, manager of radio station WSB, speaking to the convention's report on radio, read by Edwin S. Preston, Rome, chairman, paid high tribute to the south-wide Baptist Hour. Reinsch declared that radio management is concerned with the man who shall be heard as the rights of those to hear. And he went on to say that rich men can not buy for themselves what poor men may have without price. He expressed appreciation for the religious broadcasts of the right sort—deplored the fact that there are still too many religious broadcasts collecting money.

Feature of the session yesterday of the convention was the concert by 20-odd boys and girls from the Georgia Baptist Home, Hapeville. These children, smartly costumed, were seated in the front of the platform of the First Baptist church. They were directed by Mr. Sheats. They opened their concert with "America." The big audience rose to its feet. And when the children sang, the audience sang along with them. The children sang "God Bless America," the convention, for the first time in years, broke into applause. Superintendent J. L. Fortney made his report of the work of the home for the past year in superlatives, and he backed up every statement with facts that thrilled the messengers. There is no doubt about the love of Georgia Baptists for their little friends at Hapeville.

Superintendent W. D. Barker, of Georgia Baptist hospital, followed the fine concert of the orphans with a talk appealing for the work of the hospital. He reported in progress in the setting up of the Georgia Baptist Foundation was reported to the convention yesterday afternoon by Dr. Arthur Jackson, Atlanta. The purpose of the foundation, patterned largely after the Texas Baptist Foundation, is to provide a central holding and investment authority for the endowment funds of the various agencies of the convention.

L. L. Gellerstedt, executive vice president of the Citizens & Southern National Bank, Atlanta, was elected to membership on the five-man board of the foundation, succeeding Wiley L. Moore, Atlanta, who resigned due to the fact that he was already a member of the hospital commission, and no member of the foundation board can serve on any other board of the convention.

Carl Deering Wins Extradition Fight

Carl Deering, Vermont parolee, apparently has won a long court battle against extradition to his home state, but he still is a prisoner in Fulton county.

Judge Edgar E. Pomeroy, of Fulton superior court, signed an order for Deering's release yesterday after the Georgia supreme court had reversed a decision by the lower court denying the man a writ of habeas corpus.

Sheriff J. M. Blount refused to release Deering on grounds Vermont still has two days of a 10-day period allowed by law in which to appeal the decision. Deering was sentenced for counterfeiting in Massachusetts while on parole from Vermont.

Pay Increase for Nurses Proposed

WASHINGTON, Nov. 18.—(AP) Army nurses, especially the thousands of newer ones who have volunteered to administer to Uncle Sam's soldiers, would get substantial pay increases under legislation sent to the house today with the unanimous endorsement of its military affairs committee. Intended primarily to benefit approximately 16,000 head nurses and nurses holding the relative rank—but not commissions—of second lieutenants, the legislation provides for general boosts all along the line.

Army officials who backed the legislation told the committee it was necessary to induce women with nursing experience to join the Army service.

Peanut Firm Official Raps Freight Rates

Clarence Ford Discusses Higher Charges in South at ICC Hearing.

COLUMBUS, Ohio, Nov. 18.—(AP) Clarence Ford Jr., vice president of the Tom Huston Peanut Company, Columbus, Ga., testified today at an Interstate Commerce Commission freight rate hearing that "because of competitive conditions, including higher freight rates, we have not been able to expand our business to the logical limits of our natural market."

Ford said an analysis of company freight shipments over a typical three-day period showed that freight charges paid under southern rates were $26,853 above those which the northern, or official territory, rates would require. This amount, he said, "is equivalent to four per cent. of the total annual pay roll or to 3.1 per cent upon the capital stock of the corporation."

The present ICC hearing is the third of a series on virtually nationwide railroad rate classifications. The hearings resulted from a complaint filed by the southern governors' conference in 1939 that current rate schedules were discriminatory.

Governor Homer M. Adkins, of Arkansas, member of the governor's conference, testified today that "our nation should not be developed sectionally but rather on a national basis, and to my mind we cannot have this national development as long as we divide the nation into territories with varied levels of freight rates."

Roswell School Students Are 'Scrappingest'

Pupils Collected Average of 324 Lbs. of Scrap Per Person.

The scrappingest youngsters in Fulton county go to Roswell school, where pupils collected an average of 324 pounds of scrap each to win $250 in the newspaper scrap drive conducted by The Constitution and the Journal.

Superintendent Jere Wells announced yesterday that the Roswell school children collected a total of 134,350 pounds of metal per pupil.

Runners-up were the students of Milton Grammar school, who collected a total of 77,095, averaging 230 pounds per pupil.

The largest number of pounds collected by any one school was at North Fulton High school, which pulled in 189,284 pounds, or an average of 14 pounds per pupil. North Fulton sold its scrap for $1,147.54. Roswell school received $772.32 in the sale of its scrap.

"We wish to congratulate the Atlanta newspaper for the splendid publicity given to the drive," Superintendent Wells said. "It has been most profitable to the schools, as well as the government, and we believe for the individual homes also in getting rid of the unnecessary scrap lying around."

The report for Fulton county by schools, total collected and average, follows:

French Air Leader Joins De Gaulle

LONDON, Nov. 18.—(AP)—General D'Astier de la Vigerie, who held one of the highest commands in the French air force, joined General Charles De Gaulle in London today.

Bertrande D'Astier de la Vigerie, 26, daughter of the general, was sentenced in August, 1941, to 13 months' imprisonment in Vichy on a charge of De Gaulle's activity. Her brother, Jean, was given a six-month suspended sentence and fined 200 gold francs on the same charge.

Bertrande was accused of receiving De Gaulle's leaflets to be distributed among students at Nimes and instructions for "facilitating plans for a foreign power against France." She was arrested March 3, 1941.

STREET PAVING.

ROCHELLE, Ga., Nov. 18.—Actual construction of eight-tenths of a mile of concrete paving, extending from First avenue, up Gordon street, and out Fifth avenue to the city limits, is under way. When completed this will give Rochelle approximately four miles of paved streets. Local contractors are doing the paving.

Otis Jackson Is Named Oglethorpe Director

Otis Jackson, deputy regional director in charge of operations for the War Production Board and an alumnus of Oglethorpe University, has been elected a member of the board of directors of the school and of its executive committee.

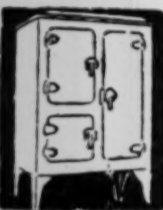

A former Florida real estate man, Director Jackson is on a leave of absence from the Georgia Power Company, where he held the post of sales promotion manager. He is in charge of operations for the War Production
